NEWS INCENSED
AT RABBI CHARGED WITH WINE SALE

Meeting of Cemetery Association Decides Jacob Grodsky Has Embarrassed His People.

SPEAKERS EXPRESS THEIR INDIGNATION

Plan to Petition Congress to Repeal Part of Volstead Act Permitting Wine for Sacramental Purposes.

Righteous indignation was expressed last night at a meeting of the Cemetery Association, held at the Jewish cemetery, at Euclid and Page avenues, against Rabbi Jacob Grodsky of Shari's Synagogue, who was arrested by Federal prohibition enforcement agents last week on a charge of dispensing sacramental wine for sacrilegious purposes to "bootleggers."

It was the sense of the meeting that Rabbi Grodsky had embarrassed his people; that he had violated the tenets of his religion; should be expelled from the rabbinate; and that Congress be petitioned to repeal that part of the Volstead Act permitting the dispensation of wine for sacramental purposes in orthodox ritualism.

It was further decided to call a conference of all Jewish congregations to discuss this matter, and a committee was appointed to arrange the conference and devise means by which the excommunication of Grodsky might be accomplished.

Denial Grodsky Has Charge.
The cemetery association has about 1700 members from the various orthodox congregations in St. Louis. The meeting was called by Frank Lipman, a building contractor with offices in the Pierce building. He is president of Shari's Synagogue, of which Grodsky says he is the rabbi. Lipman denies this, asserting that Grodsky has not been the rabbi for 18 months, although he still occupies the rabbinical residence at 1508 Wash street.

"That man has not so much as put his foot across our threshold in a year," Lipman declared.
The offense charged against Rabbi Grodsky is one which is made possible under present Federal regulations governing the issuance of licenses to Jewish congregations for religious purposes. He was arrested when S. Kapovitch of 2025 Wash street was seen carrying two cases of champagne from the rabbinical residence. Kapovitch had paid $110 for the champagne, which had cost the rabbi $43. Rabbi Grodsky maintains that, as the rabbi of Shari's Synagogue, he has a right to dispense wines to members of his congregation. He is to have a hearing before the United States Commissioner Aug. 31.

The Meeting Began in English.
The meeting last night began in English, the chairman on a rostrum spoke and with a large mallet brandished for a gavel, and the vice chairman at the other end, also brandished a mallet. On speaker was recognized, but before he had got under way, several others joined in with denunciation of Rabbi Grodsky, and down came the mallets. This pounding was repeated at short intervals, so impatient were the members to express their indignation.

Objected to Wine Withdrawals.
Lipman said that Rabbi Grodsky a year ago withdrew 750 gallons of wine by representing to Prohibition Director Allen that he was the rabbi of Shari's Synagogue, and that he, Lipman, went to Kansas City and protested to Allen against issuing more wine to Grodsky in the name of Shari's Synagogue.
Upon his return from Kansas City, he said, he called a meeting of 41 members of the congregation, and "three gentlemen appeared at the meeting and threatened to kill me unless they desisted."

"What happened then?" Lipman was asked.
"Well, who wants to die? We did nothing," he said.
Another speaker declared that unless Congress repealed the Volstead Act as to Jewish wines, "we would soon be characterized as a nation of bootleggers."

Statement by Grodsky.
A Post-Dispatch reporter called on Rabbi Grodsky today.
"I have four congregations," he explained, "one on Dickinson street, one on Fourteenth street, one at Fourteenth and Carr streets, and the one next door, Shari's Synagogue." To which Mrs. Grodsky, who was

INVENTOR OF LEWISITE SETS
TEAR GAS BOMB FOR BURGLARS

Tired of Being Robbed, Northwestern University Professor Lays Mantrap in Home.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Prof. W. Lee Lewis of Northwestern University, inventor of Lewisite and other high explosives and deadly gases used in the World War, announced today that after three visits from burglars he was tired of being robbed, so he had equipped his home with a burglar alarm attached to a tear gas bomb.

"As soon as a window is raised or a door opened, the bomb drops to the floor," he explained, "and I have added a booster charge to make it explode so that it will reach every corner. Our sleeping porch is closed from the house, so the family is in no danger. All I have to do when the bomb explodes is to call the police and tell them to bring an ambulance."

OCEAN'S FLOOR HAS RISEN, OFF
SOUTH AFRICA, SOUNDINGS SHOW

Investigation Near St. Helena Indicates Some Sub-Oceanic Convulsion Since 1899.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Officers of the Eastern Telegraph Company's ship which is repairing a broken cable between St. Helena and Cape Town report that the ocean bed has risen to within three quarters of a mile of the surface at a point where the chart showed the depth to be three miles. The soundings for the chart were taken in 1889, the year in which the cable was laid. The discovery suggests that there has been a recent submarine convulsion.

WOMEN BOXERS IN BERLIN

Cabarets and Music Halls Turn "Manly Act" Over to Girls.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—"Lady boxers" are star attractions at the cheaper variety houses in Berlin, and attract many tourists to these places of amusement. There are several groups of women pugilists which spar in various cabarets and music halls, and they box with great vigor. One of the best-known female boxers has a nose which is badly deformed from having been broken, and another has a cauliflower ear. Most of the female pugilists are young and extremely active. They are about as scientific as many of the men who pose as professional boxers, for the art of boxing is not highly developed in Germany.

MORE INDICTMENTS AGAINST D. W. ROSS
TO BE ASKED FOR

Accountants' Report Shows "Constructive Cash Deficit" of $167,762 in Night and Day Liquidation.

IMMEDIATE EFFECT
TO INCREASE HIS BOND

Now at Liberty on $25,000 Bail Obtained After He Had Spent Two Weeks in City Jail.

Further indictments against Donald W. Ross, former Deputy State Finance Commissioner, will be sought as a result of the report, made to Commissioner Millsaps, showing a "constructive cash deficit" of $167,762.97 in Ross' accounts as liquidation officer of the Night and Day Bank. The report was submitted by Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants.

Ross, who was indicted last April on a single charge of embezzling $28,250 of the bank's funds, is at liberty on $25,000 bond. The effect of new indictments would be to increase his bond requirement. He had difficulty in furnishing his present bond, and had to remain in jail two weeks after his arrest.

Additional Charges Probable.
Thomas F. Francis, attorney for Commissioner Millsaps, said today that the report would be placed before the grand jury, with a view to obtaining additional indictments. Circuit Attorney Siderer came here recently from Wisconsin, interrupting his vacation, with a view to placing additional charges against Ross before the grand jury, but he found that the report of accountants was not ready, and dismissed the grand jury until September.

Francis also said that a demand had been made on the National Surety Co., which was on Ross' bond, for the full amount of the bond, $25,000, as it has now been determined that Ross' liability exceeds that sum.

Ross' shortage was at first estimated unofficially at about $70,000, but unofficial estimates made later, as was told in the Post-Dispatch July 9, made it appear to be in the region of $170,000. The accountants reach their estimate of the "constructive cash deficit" of the bank's accounts as $167,762.97, representing Ross' "constructive deficit."

Details of the Report.
Of this $167,762.97 deficiency, the report specifies in detail a group of explanatory items which, however, total only $96,218.73. The rest of the $167,762.97 appears to be unexplained. Members of the accountants' firm, when asked about this, said they would have to go to the report itself. The report, in two places, speaks of the $96,218.73 as "the part of the deficiency accounted for."

The items which make up this $96,218.73 of explained deficiency are:

Collections made in behalf of the bank and deposited to Ross' personal account: Check of Oron E. & R. G. Scott, deposited to Citizens' Security Bank, Kansas City, $7248.75; check of Case & Miller, deposited with Liberty Central Trust Co., $3342.47; check of J. H. Scott, deposited to Citizens' Security Bank, Kansas City, $1248.75; check of Case & Miller, deposited with Liberty Central Trust Co., $3342.47; checks drawn against the Night and Day Bank, "which appears to be for other than Night and Day Bank purposes," 15 checks, amounting to $74,034.63.

Amounts drawn by Ross for salary and expenses, in excess of the amount due him for salary—$4,420.00.

Charges were made by other banks, for which no canceled checks or other data were found—$6,572.83.

Total—
Some of Checks Drawn by Ross.

Under the head, "Checks drawn against funds of the Night and Day Bank which appear to be for other than Night and Day Bank purposes," a list of 15 checks, issued from Oct. 4 to Jan 17 last appears. Three of these checks for amounts between $200 and $300 each, were made payable to Ross, and one for $2300 to the West Side State Bank, Kansas City, of which Ross became the head after leaving his work at the Night and Day Bank.

Three checks, for amounts from $200 to $500, were made payable to the Liberty Central Trust Co., and one for $28,250 to the First National Bank.

Nov. 25 is the one on which the present indictment against Ross is based, as it is charged that this check was sent to Kansas City to pay for stock of the West Side State Bank.

NATION-WIDE SEARCH BEGUN
FOR STOLEN BABY GIRL

Police of 9000 Cities to Get Description of Child Taken From Baby Carriage in New York.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Aid of the police in more than 9000 cities and towns of the United States and Canada was sought today in the search for Lillian McKenzie, three months old, when circled carrying a description of the missing baby were sent out, Detective Captain Funston announced.

Police say it is the greatest hunt made in New York in 15 years. So far, the few erratic leads followed have yielded no trace of the baby and the police were no farther ahead this morning than they were the day the child disappeared. Meanwhile, the baby carriage from which Lillian was taken remains in front of the store at West Eighteenth street and Sixth avenue, where it stood Saturday noon when she vanished. Crowds gazed at it all day, and more than once policemen had to clear the sidewalk.

Someone locked a chain from the spokes of one wheel to a grating over one of the store windows, so nobody could take the carriage, which was placed there by Peter McKenzie, the father, Monday, in hopes that the abductor might see it and return the child through pity.

Last night a coat of dust and cinders had collected on the white pillows and blankets, in the depression made by Lillian's head and body. The public yesterday began to offer suggestions—all of them fruitless thus far. As a result, however, police are looking for several persons in Jersey City. They are seeking a woman, with a view to a blue hat, seen with a weeping infant in her arms. In Manhattan, they are seeking a woman in black, who was seen leading one child by the hand and carrying another in West Eighteenth street Saturday night.

They also are seeking another woman in black, also with two children, without a hat, who was seen in West Nineteenth street, and for a third woman in black, who asked a mail man at Eighteenth street and Sixth avenue where the mother of the baby lived. Several other women and men, all of them carrying children, were seen in the vicinity.

28-HOUR AERIAL
MAIL, EASTBOUND, BEGINS LAST LAP

Leaves Cleveland for New York at 1:02 P. M.—West-bound Plane Three Hours Late From Cheyenne.

SECOND TEST TRIP
ALSO IS UNDER WAY

One Machine Leaves San Francisco, and Another Starts From Long Island on 28-Hour Schedule.

By the Associated Press.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 22.—With the fog that has hung over Sherman Hill since last evening, lifting, Pilot H. G. Boonstra left here with the westbound transcontinental mail at 8:42 a. m. (mountain time) today. At Rock Springs, Wyo., he was relieved by Pilot Robert Ellis, who continued the westward trip at 11:18 a. m.

Boonstra, westbound relay flier, first took off from the Cheyenne air mail field at 5 a. m., but was driven back by the same banks of fog which last night thwarted repeated attempts by the eastbound pilot, Hal Collinson, to reach Cheyenne.

Pilot Jack Knight had arrived here at 2:50 a. m. Mountain time, but, owing to rain and mist, it was deemed inadvisable to continue the flight, which began yesterday morning, before daylight. Knight was one hour and 25 minutes ahead of the original schedule for the cross-continent trip when he arrived here, but Boonstra's futile start was about forty minutes behind schedule.

Air Mail Pilot H. A. Collinson, who left Laramie, Wyo., at 5:21 a. m. (mountain time) today with the east-bound mail after being forced down there late yesterday afternoon and trying unsuccessfully three times last night to reach here in a dense fog, arrived here at 5:55 a. m. The mail, which left San Francisco yesterday morning, was transferred to the regular day mail plane in charge of Pilot E. M. Allison, who left at 6:15 a. m. for Omaha.

Pilot Frank Yager, in an eastbound plane which left Cheyenne at 9:35 last night (Central Standard time), without waiting for the plane piloted by H. A. Collinson, which was forced down at Laramie, carried only local mail from Cheyenne to Omaha.

This left a gap of 50 miles in the transcontinental air mail service, which was closed when Pilot Collinson arrived here.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—The second airplane in the air mail service 28-hour test flight between San Francisco and New York, left here at 5:26 a. m. today. Pilot C. K. Vance was in the cockpit plane, which was detailed to return from Reno, Nevada, with the air mail that left New York yesterday. Vance arrived at Reno at 7:07 a. m. Pilot Eaton, with a machine which was all turned up and waiting, left with the mail for Elko, two minutes later. Eaton arrived at Elko at 9:23 a. m., Pacific time, and left for Salt Lake City at 9:26.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 22.—Pilot Wagner, in the east-bound mail plane from Chicago, landed at the air mail field here at 12:59 p. m. Eugene Johnson took the five bags of mail from Wagner's plane and started for New York at 1:02 p. m.

Pilot Wagner and Johnson used only three minutes in the transfer of the mail. Pilot Johnson said he would fly to New York, to take advantage of the favorable winds encountered this morning by the regular Cleveland to New York mail plane, which made the trip in three hours and 18 minutes.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 22.—Pilot F. R. Yager of the eastbound plane from Cheyenne to Omaha, arrived at Crook Field at 5:15 a. m., central time.

Yager said he passed Pilot Knight, who guiding the westbound plane from Omaha to Cheyenne, at Lexington, Neb., about 10 miles east of North Platte, Neb.

Four pouches of mail from Cheyenne were taken from Yager's plane and transferred to that of Pilot H. T. Lewis, who hopped off on the final lap of the eastward bound night flying section at 3:20 a. m. central standard time. Two more mail pouches from Omaha were also piled on board.

Sees Beacon 100 Miles Distant.
Yager said he flew at an altitude of about 2000 feet all the way from Cheyenne and encountered strong east winds. The large beacon lights, he said, were working perfectly. It was able to pick up the big beacon from Omaha approximately 100 miles west of here, he told postoffice officials who greeted him upon his arrival.

Red Flag Carried in Parade of Miners in Bilbao.
By the Associated Press.
BILBAO, Spain, Aug. 22.—Striking miners yesterday stormed and looted a restaurant, ate in others without paying and committed other disorders.

Later they organized a parade, some of them carrying red flags, and were given a not unfriendly reception by many of the inhabitants who threw money from their windows. Much suffering prevails among the strikers. The Governor of the province is making an attempt to adjust the difficulties between the miners and the owners.

Marine Corps Captain and Lieutenant Die in Crash at Pensacola.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Capt. George F. Hill and Second Lieutenant Cornelius McFadden of the Marine Corps were killed today in an airplane crash at Pensacola. Advice received at the office of Major General Lejeune, commandant of the Marine Corps, said the accident occurred shortly after 9 a. m., but gave no details.

Unemployed Now 1,212,000.

SWALLOWS GEMS
TO AVOID DUTY HE NEEDN'T HAVE PAID

German Could Have Declared Diamonds, Given Bond and Gone on His Way Home.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—Franz Butner, fearing he would have to pay duty on several diamonds he was taking from Mexico to his home in Germany, swallowed several of the gems just before the ship bringing him here from the southern republic reached this port yesterday.

He was sent to the Marine Hospital at the San Francisco Presidio for an X-ray examination after William Hamilton, Collector of Customs here, had told him that his unpalatable meal had been unnecessary.

Hamilton said he could have declared the diamonds, been bonded and continued his journey without paying any duty in this country. A customs inspector, finding the diamonds Butner had not swallowed, got a "hunch."

"What did you do with the rest of them?" he asked.
Butner involuntarily put his hand on his stomach.
"Swallowed them?" asked the inspector.
Butner admitted he had done so.

COOLIDGES INSTALLED IN WHITE HOUSE WITHOUT SHOW

Only a Few Tourist Sightseers and Photographers on Hand When They Enter.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—President and Mrs. Coolidge are spending their first day as residents of the White House today.

Until their morning newspapers were read, few of the Capital's residents were aware that the new first lady had moved from their quarters at the New Willard Hotel, where they have lived since Mr. Coolidge returned to Washington as President, and throughout his service as Vice President, to the executive mansion. Driving the short distance from the hotel late yesterday, they slipped into the White House almost unnoticed, only a chance group of tourists visiting the city.

A few photographers being on hand to witness the formal taking up of residence there by the thirtieth President.

The work of moving the personal effects of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge from the hotel to the White House began shortly after their arrival there yesterday.

NATIONAL COOLIDGE CLUBS PROPOSED BY EX-VERMONTERS

Enlisting 150,000 Former Residents, Living in 47 States, to Back 1924 Candidacy Planned.

JOHN BARRETT ASKED TO DIRECT MOVEMENT

Provisional Committee on Organization Formed at New York — Westerners Said to Be Responsive.

By the Associated Press. GRAFTON, Vt., Aug. 22.—Approximately 150,000 former residents of Vermont, now living in 47 other states, are supporting a movement to organize Coolidge-for-President clubs. John Barrett, former director of the Pan-American Union, announced today on his return from Washington and New York.

In a formal statement, Barrett, who conferred with President Coolidge regarding Pan-American affairs while in Washington, said he had been invited in New York yesterday to direct the movement, but feared other duties would prevent him from taking the chairmanship of a provisional campaign.

Barrett's statement followed one issued yesterday by Senator Moses of New Hampshire in which Moses asserted that Mr. Coolidge would be a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1924 and would receive the solid support of New England.

Barrett's statement said: "Last winter a group of native Vermonters began testing the attitude of representative and influential Vermont outlanders, as loyal natives and former residents living outside the state are now described, toward organizing these 150,000 from Massachusetts to California into a powerful national Vermont Association, which would co-operate with the inlanders, or permanent residents, in advancing the State's general welfare and prosperity, just as college alumni associations aid their institutions."

"The program carried with it the very popular then Vice President, Calvin Coolidge, a native Vermont, who was chosen honorary president, and Ambassador Harvey, another native, honorary vice president. Our appeal met with most gratifying response, and we intend to perfect the organization this coming autumn or winter."

"The original movement in itself, of course, had, and will have, if continued, no political character whatever, but suddenly and unexpectedly the elevation of Mr. Coolidge to the presidency has inspired natives Vermonters everywhere to suggest that a similar national movement among them to form or join Coolidge clubs be started."

Westerners Interested. "We have already heard on their own initiative to this effect from prominent and influential men, most of them leaders in agricultural, industrial and educational activities, residing in such distant states as California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, both Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Illinois and Florida. Westerners thus far seem even more interested than Easterners, especially in the agricultural sections, where Coolidge is looked upon as a product of the farm."

"Yesterday, in New York, a group of these interested and representative Vermonters, including several from the Central and Far West, formed a provisional committee and invited me to act as chairman of a general committee on organization to advance this movement throughout the country. I had done for the National Vermont Association and I can say that there is no doubt of its strength and significance."

POINCARÉ REAFFIRMS REPARATIONS POLICY IN REPLY TO BRITAIN

By France, "containing the elements of a practical solution."

The synopsis asserts that France "never dreamed of pursuing a selfish policy in the question of reparations—a question that cannot be solved without due regard to the whole European interests involved."

Further, she always took into consideration Great Britain's "lamentable and persistent unemployment."

The occupation of the Ruhr was made obligatory in Premier Poincaré's opinion, by what he calls the deliberate debasement of Germany's finances with the avowed intention of securing payment of reparations.

"Until the end of 1923," the note explains, "Germany had not ceased to aggravate her financial situation. She did nothing to balance her budget. She maintained railroad rates lower than anywhere else. She increased the number of her functionaries and increased their pay. She recruited a large part of the tax revenue from the most powerful manufacturers and even granted them indemnities and subsidies. She has reconstructed her merchant fleet, which is now competing with the British in American waters. She has undertaken an immense program of public works such as France was obliged to postpone."

To Prove Occupation Legal. Premier Poincaré cites previous decisions of the allies to prove that the occupation of the Ruhr is legal. He mentions the rapid recovery of Austria as proof that Germany could have put her finances in order had she wished to do so.

The French program, he says, is "simple." For she asks "from the first two series of bonds twenty-six billions in addition to enough from their bonds to pay their allied war debts."

In the text, the Premier, replying to Marquis Curzon, frames his answer in a tone less sharp but no less categorical, reaffirming the French resolution, "a hundred times repeated, not to renounce one centime of her reparations claim, which is regarded as sacred and which does not resemble any other claim."

He repeats the determination of France not to give up the pledges she holds until after complete payment of reparations has been made.

Poincaré Replies, Point by Point, to Marquis Curzon. In Note.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Aug. 22.—The New York Times yesterday obtained a copy of the note which Premier Poincaré's general policy, Premier Poincaré going back to the war council of June 20, 1916, to establish his case. On that day the allies solemnly agreed to give priority to the devastated areas, which oath is now challenged by the British Government.

Belgium will send its note Thursday, and, settled by England's attitude toward Belgium, it will be found that Brussels is more firm than Paris.

STRESEMANN TO URGE CONFERENCE ON REPARATIONS

Correspondent Says Chancellor Will Propose That All of the Allies Be Represented at Meeting.

By SAMUEL SPEWACK.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World. (Copyright, 1933, by the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.)

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Chancellor Stresemann will discuss his proposed speech on reparations at a private meeting of leading German politicians and industrialists Thursday night.

From sources intimate with the Chancellor, the correspondent is informed that he will plead for the immediate summoning of a round-table conference, where the reparations problem will be put up for final settlement.

By no means a capitulation, his speech will strive to be as conciliatory as possible. He will make it plain that a million more or less does not matter as long as a fair settlement, based on Germany's capacity to pay, is reached.

Wants All Allies Represented. He will suggest that the first problem to be tackled is how much Germany already has paid, and from that consider future payments. What probably will cause unfavorable comment in Paris will be his insistence that Germany cannot afford a bargain with France alone, but that all of the allies be represented. He will appeal especially for American intervention in the final settlement.

Much of Stresemann's address will have the backing of the British and he will make every use of the Curzon survey of the Ruhr.

The Chancellor has not yet decided whether the moment is opportune to come out with his complete reparations proposals, and it is most likely he will wait until a plea for a joint conference first.

Chancellor Stresemann will couch in careful language Germany's demand for sovereignty in the Ruhr, but this does not necessarily mean that he will not pay up while French troops remain there.

Cabinet Plans to Get Taxes. After a meeting lasting half the night, the Cabinet yesterday adopted a series of measures to keep the industrialists to hand over taxes.

The Government wants $100,000,000 immediately with which to buy food and help support the mark, which yesterday reached a new low level of 8,000,000 to the dollar.

By innuendo threats have been conveyed that the Government may assume dictatorial powers to keep the cost of necessities down and to collect taxes if the industrialists continue their obstructionist tactics.

publicity. We would have preferred ordinary diplomatic procedure.

The British note of July 20 laid out a plan to help support the mark, which yesterday reached a new low level of 8,000,000 to the dollar.

The estimate of 120 millions of gold marks, referred to in your note, is to be found under the chapter heading, "Reparations," written by Mr. Lansdowne in Col. House's book.

"Germany will always be rich enough to pay us—all she needs is the will to pay."

Negation of the Treaty. "The British government talks of impartial experts. That is to say that it regards the Reparations Commission as partial."

"An international commission would be a negation of the treaty signed by Great Britain and the allies."

"When has Germany seemed disposed to accept any figure as just and reasonable?"

"The British cabinet is clearly siding with the German thesis regarding the illegality of the Ruhr occupation."

"We have no need to refer to any jurisdiction, the difference about the interpretation of Paragraph 18, but only to invoke the opinion previously expressed by the British Government."

"In 1921 France was willing to pay—Germany hasn't been willing to pay."

"We shall not evacuate the Ruhr against her promises—it's payments we are after."

"Every pound or dollar France owes England or the United States represents a saving of allied blood. Every gold mark Germany owes represents the shedding of allied blood. Ready to Make Heavy Sacrifices."

"The action of France was not isolated action, but action distinct from British action."

"France has shown her readiness to make a much heavier sacrifice than England."

"To sum up, the British Cabinet subsidizes the settlement of the inter-allied debts to an international expert examining the difference between responsible financiers and to the constitution of a commission in which Belgium and France would be in a minority."

"We can understand that the British Government should reserve its rights. No doubt it will understand that we should receive ours."

"We have never contested the British claim. We have only said, and we repeat, that our debt, contracted in exceptional circumstances and in view of a common interest, cannot be composed from the standpoint of either morality or justice with Germany's reparations debt."

NEW JAPANESE SUBMARINE SINKS; 83 ARE MISSING

Five, Including Captain, Saved When Vessel, Returning From Trial Trip, Goes Down Off Awaji.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Aug. 22.—Eighty-three men are missing with Japanese submarine No. 70, which listed and sank off Awaji Island yesterday after her trial trip. Thirty-seven of the missing men were dock hands. Five were saved from the disaster, including the captain, chief officer and engineer. Divers have been unable to find the vessel.

The vessel, which was returning to Kobe, was one of the latest type submarines and was built recently completed.

According to Submarine Engineer Yanagawa, the vessel had just come to the surface when she listed heavily and started to sink. The captain ordered all the openings closed, but the submarine filled before the crew could carry out the orders. She sank in 35 fathoms of water.

Those who were saved owe their lives to the fact that they were hurled through the openings of the submarine by the rushing water.

Awaji is an island of Japan in the strait between Honshu and Shikoku. It is 30 miles long.

United Socialists Demanding Retirement on Ground of Failure to Institute Financial Reform.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The report that Rudolf Havenstein, president of the Reichsbank, has resigned, is entirely without foundation, it was semi-officially stated today.

Dispatches from Berlin Tuesday night carried reports of Havenstein's resignation, either actually submitted or impending.

The United Socialists have been demanding his retirement on the ground that he and his fellow directors failed in instituting financial reforms which would have prevented the collapse of the mark.

LIQUOR SEIZED ON SHIP AFTER GOURAUD GIVES DINNER

Bartender and Two Stewards of French Liner France Arrested—Americans Among French General's Guests.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Three members of the crew of the French liner France were arrested this morning and 72 bottles of choice wines, champagne and liquors seized in a raid that followed a dinner given by General Henri Gouraud, one-armed French war hero, to more than a score of Americans.

The trio, it was alleged, were attempting to moisten the dance which followed General Gouraud's dry dinner. The General, the ship's captain and officials of the line expressed amazement and indignation at the activities of the alleged liquor purveyors. The men arrested were Marcel Robert, ship's bartender, and Andreas Dings and Francois Bettin, stewards.

Among the guests at General Gouraud's dinner were United States Attorney General William Donovan of Buffalo, James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany; Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord; the Rev. Father Francis P. Duffy, the "fighting chaplain" of the Old 69th Regiment, and several French dignitaries, including Senator Gaston Menier and Count Philippe D. Vigny.

The dinner over, Gen. Gouraud proposed a toast to America in water, and then, with a sweep of his remaining arm, invited the diners into the ball room where an orchestra was tuning up.

About this time customs agents who had been instructed to be present to see that no law was violated, noticed unusual activity on the part of the three men who later were arrested. They followed the trio to the ship's butcher shop but found the doors locked. Agent Cronin knocked and the door was opened. When he flashed his shield, however, an attempt was made to slam the door in his face. He and Agent Innes forced their way in, only to find the lights had been switched off. As he entered Cronin's arm came in contact, in the dark, with the point of a butcher knife.

Thinking he was about to be stabbed, he called out that if the lights were not switched on and if the men in the room did not throw up their hands, he would begin shooting.

The lights were turned on and the trio surrendered. Near the spot where they stood were the 72 bottles of intoxicants.

Lacking proof that the bartender and stewards of the France had disposed of any of their liquors to Gen. Gouraud's guests, Customs Solicitor Barnes released them this afternoon upon the payment of a $1212 fine. The French Line assumed responsibility for the presence of unsealed liquor on the vessel and paid the fine. The three were aboard the France when she sailed later.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Police today began a drive against truckmen bringing beer from New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The campaign started in the early hours this morning when New York police began stopping every truck that crossed from the New Jersey shore. Nearly a score were taken to precinct stations for further examination, although casual inspection showed them to be loaded with legitimate commodities.

WHITNEY OF FUEL STRIKE COMES, WHITE HOUSE SAYS

Authorized Statement Follows Two Conferences by Coolidge With Coal Commission Chairman.

23,000,000 TONS OF COAL IN STORAGE

Available Supply Would Last 16 Weeks if Strike Suspended Production, Survey Discloses.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Members of the Federal Coal Commission were engaged today in framing a report to President Coolidge, fixing the responsibility for the break between the anthracite operators and miners, and outlining steps they believe the Government should take in event of a strike on Sept. 1.

Chairman Hammond of the commission announced this would be the next step. He and Commissioner Spottiswood-Mackin were engaged today in framing a report to President Coolidge, fixing the responsibility for the break between the anthracite operators and miners, and outlining steps they believe the Government should take in event of a strike on Sept. 1.

Two statements have come from the White House which are regarded as settling the plan in the mind of Mr. Coolidge. The first of these, made several days ago, said a plan had been prepared which would relieve the situation through the use of substitutes for anthracite. The second authorized last evening after the President talked to Hammond twice within three hours, was that the public should rest assured that there would be plenty of fuel. Sufficient stocks of hard coal are in storage to supply normal requirements for more than four months, according to a survey made by a Government department.

The report on accumulated stocks estimated them at 23,000,000 to 25,000,000 tons and the normal weekly consumption at 2,000,000 tons. The restriction of consumption which the Government would reduce the weekly requirement automatically. Government observers said, to a point where the reserve would be sufficient to supply domestic needs for at least 16 weeks.

It was estimated that the increased burden on bituminous production would be less than 10 per cent of the normal output, which, the report said, should be attained without difficulty.

Believe Government Action Is Only Strike Preventive.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The United Mine Workers' National Union officials, who yesterday broke off wage negotiations, were still in the city today awaiting what communication might come from the United States Coal Commission.

Sept. 1 the present contract fixing the wages and terms of employment for all the unionized mine workers in the anthracite region will expire. Repeated attempts to get an agreement as to the terms of a contract to continue employment relations after that date have failed.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, gave out a statement of the joint meeting yesterday, said the efforts toward a peaceable adjustment of the conflict on the part of the industry itself had terminated because the operators were unwilling to concede any part of the demand for increased wages made by the men. The operators asserted that the break was due to unwillingness of the union to submit its demands to arbitration. Both sides, however, consented to submission of a report on the situation to the United States Coal Commission, through James A. McLaughlin, secretary of the joint conference.

Lewis Presents Miners' Side.

Neither group looked for prevention of a protracted industrial struggle in the anthracite region after Sept. 1 by any other means than Government intervention.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, gave out a statement of the joint meeting yesterday, said the efforts toward a peaceable adjustment of the conflict on the part of the industry itself had terminated because the operators were unwilling to concede any part of the demand for increased wages made by the men. The operators asserted that the break was due to unwillingness of the union to submit its demands to arbitration. Both sides, however, consented to submission of a report on the situation to the United States Coal Commission, through James A. McLaughlin, secretary of the joint conference.

troubling of their career. Since the anthracite operators intend never to cease or compromise on any point of working conditions or other matters except after defeat in a fight, our people will go into a fight. "We make no request to the Coal Commission. We look for no help from any agency, governmental or otherwise. Our people have tried out arbitration; we never get the offer to have issues settled by it, unless we are strong enough to win without it, but the mine workers always have found reason for dissatisfaction with arbitration awards in the past.

Alleges Exorbitant Profits. "Today Mr. Warriner (representing the operators), told us that the operators would not, and could not, grant a wage increase Sept. 1. There isn't any purpose in further negotiation after that. We feel that the exorbitant and unwarranted profits now taken in the industry would allow wage increases without any increase in the cost of coal to the consumer.

Operators Insist on Arbitration. Warriner, after the break-up, said the split came solely and only on the "question of arbitration." As a last move in the joint session, he said the operators had renewed the offer to arbitrate every point in dispute, to keep the mines running, and to make wage advances retroactive in case they were awarded later than Sept. 1.

Mr. Lewis told us further negotiations would be futile," he declared. "Yet what more, in the name of reason, can employers offer in order to avert a contest?" Warriner said the operators considered the existing wage scale "more than adequate," but had offered to extend it to March 31, 1925, or to submit the question of an increase to arbitration, on the understanding that President Coolidge would be asked to name the arbitration board if the miners and their employers could not agree upon its members.

"We have gone to the limit of fairness in the endeavor to adjust these differences," he added. "If the miners see fit to precipitate this break, we'll have to abide by the results."

Whether the operators would attempt to keep the mines running in the face of a union order to its members to cease to work, Warriner would not say.

"Notwithstanding, I think the public faced though it is with the likelihood of inconvenience and deprivation from this situation, is ready to consider the economic aspect of the matter," he continued. "We think when the anthracite wage scale as it stands is appreciated, when the facts as to coal prices and the undesirability of their increase is considered, when the unhesitant refusal of the miners to allow impartial adjudication of their demands by arbitration is made so clear, public opinion will have something to say. Certainly, we shall await some new sort of a showing, and will be ready, as always, to try any method of averting a suspension of mining."

RESERVE ARMY OFFICER KILLED WHEN BARN FALLS IN STORM

18 Others at Camp Meade Hurt in Collapse of Building They Entered for Shelter.

CAMP MEADE, Md., Aug. 22.—Lieutenant Walter R. Hirschmiller, a reserve officer in the army service, was killed and 18 other reserve officers in training were injured today in the collapse of an old barn in which they sought shelter from rain. Lieut. Hirschmiller's home was in Pittsburg, Pa. Most of those injured suffered only minor hurts.

PRINCESS MACKIN DIES AT AGE OF 73

Former St. Louisan Was One of Few American Women Elevated to Papal Peerage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Princess Spottiswood-Mackin, one of the few American women elevated to the papal peerage, died at Harrison, N. Y., yesterday at the age of 73. She was the widow of James Mackin, who was a State Senator, and the daughter of the late James H. Britton of St. Louis. She was prominent in charitable work.

Sallie Britton was the second daughter of James H. Britton, who served as Mayor of St. Louis in the seventies. Educated in a convent school, she made her debut here and soon widened her social activities to New York. She married James Mackin at one time Treasurer of the State of New York, and lived in Albany a number of years. He was wealthy. After his death in 1887 Mrs. Mackin spent much time in European travel.

Because of her liberality to the church, Pope Leo XIII made her a Countess of the papal nobility and she was elevated to the rank of Princess by Pope Pius X, thus becoming Princess Spottiswood-Mackin. Her book, "A Society Woman of Two Continents," was generally read. She provided many sensations in social circles because of rumors of alliances with noble families abroad, but a second marriage never got beyond the gossip stage.

shaw, was issued in payment of 16 shares of capital stock of the West Side State Bank as indicated by photographic copies of the deposit slip of Henshaw, dated Jan. 17.

"Other Items" Examined. Under the head of "Other Items" it stated: "An examination of the statement of the account of the Commissioner of Finance with other banks showed that certain charges had been made by the banks for which we could find no canceled checks, vouchers or other data substantiating the charges. None of these items were shown as disbursements in the report of the Special Deputy Commissioner filed in the Circuit Court on Nov. 2, 1922. The purposes for which these charges are made are unknown, and they have not been included as disbursements in this report."

The greater part of the report consists in summing up the assets of the bank, for the purpose of showing the amounts of the assets for which Ross failed to account.

Assets of Bank Summed Up. Under the head of "Disbursements and other deductions" appears $60,249.68 for commissions and allowances of interest on bonds, and the bank. The detailed items making up this amount include:

Briscoe Motor Co., $46,224.93; "Chalfonte" Apartment bonds, $4,981.50; Artemus Amusement Co., $2,550; Perle et al., $2,950; discounts on bonds and notes sold to or through Oren E. & R. G. Scott, 7 items, $2,116.25.

The inventory of Jan. 6, 1922, filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds, does not show any Chalfonte Apartment bonds on hand at that date," the report says. "It appears probable that these bonds represented collateral, but we were unable to secure any information on this point, neither were we able to determine the value of the Chalfonte Apartment bonds sold, or the price at which they were sold."

"The propriety of including in compromises and allowance the disbursements on Chalfonte Apartment bonds is questionable, inasmuch as virtually all this discount was charged to undivided profits account in the ledger kept by the special deputy commissioner (Ross) and in view of our inability to disprove the correctness of this charge, we have, for the purpose of this report, allowed it to remain in compromises and allowance."

MAN, 74, SLAIN AFTER KILLING HIS DAUGHTER

Michigan Farmer Shot Down by Son-in-Law Whose Wife He Had Murdered.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Aug. 22.—John Garrett, 74 years old, early today shot and killed his daughter, Mrs. Henry Rector, and a moment later was slain by her husband after he had attacked the latter with a pitchfork.

The killings occurred at the farm home of the Rectors, 10 miles east of here. Garrett is believed to have brooded over family troubles. When neighbors reached the house after the killings, Rector was sitting on the rear steps. Nearby lay the body of his father-in-law, while that of his wife was found in a barn. Rector said he was in the barn this morning when he heard his wife screaming. Looking out he saw her running, pursued by her father, Garrett, he said, raised his shotgun and fired pointblank at his daughter, killing her instantly. He then stabbed him in the face. The latter ran to the house and seizing another weapon sent a bullet through Garrett's head.

COURTHOUSE WATCHMAN WHO TOLD OF BEING ASSAULTED, DIES

C. W. Forthmann, 58, Succumbs to Injuries Suffered When on Duty on Aug. 5.

Charles W. Forthmann, 58 years old, of 2655A Shenandoah avenue, a watchman at the Court House, died last night at city hospital of injuries suffered Aug. 5 when, he told police at the time, he was assaulted on the Courthouse lawn by a man whom he had ordered to move on.

Forthmann described his assailant as about 21 years old, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, wearing a light cap and shabby clothing.

reported to us that on Oct. 18, 1922, whisky certificates for 735 barrels of whisky were sold at $21 per barrel, $15.435, and that a few days later whisky certificates for 70 barrels of whisky were sold on the same terms for $14.70, making the total sales $16,905. The collections from the sale of whisky certificates $16,905, were deposited Oct. 21, in the Liberty Central Trust Co. Bank, amounting to $235.10 was paid by check, the net proceeds from the sale of these certificates being $16,669.90.

The deduction items include $10,000 for advance made for repairs to boats held under mortgages given by Meyer Katz.

"No 'cash items' have been included in this statement," it is noted, "except that cash known to have been realized on 'cash items' during the period from Jan. 6, 1922, to Feb. 12, 1923, is included as cash received."

The "cash items" constitute a chief part of the alleged defalcations of Cashier A. O. Melning, whose total shortage has been estimated at approximately $750,000. Melning was tried at Union in May, and was convicted, with a 5 years' penitentiary term, but he is at liberty on bond pending his appeal.

Illuminated Sign Protesting Against Garbage Plant in Southwest St. Louis

What City Would Build A Garbage Plant On This Spot? Will You Help Try To Stop It? For Particulars CALL GRAND 5250

ON KING'S HIGHWAY, between DeTonty street and McRee avenue, is a 25-foot signboard bearing this inscription: "What city would build a garbage plant on this spot? Will you help try to stop it? For particulars call Grand 5250."

The sign is illuminated at night as shown in the photograph. The Southwestern Property Owners' protective Association erected the sign as a protest against a proposal by the city to erect a garbage incinerator for the southwestern part of the city, and the association will have a mass meeting tomorrow night at Bryan Mulvaney School, Shaw and Tower Grove avenues, to hear reports of investigating committees and adopt resolutions against the proposal. There will be a parade, headed by a band, through the southwestern part of the city tomorrow afternoon to advertise the meeting.

C. L. Russell, chairman of the Policies Committee of the Association, whose telephone number is on the signboard, said Director of Streets and Sewers Pisk had proposed the association that the citizens of that community would be granted a hearing before the Board of Public Service, Sept. 4, and that no contract would be let without taking protests into consideration.

"Yes," Mrs. Grodzky interposed. "They're jealous of him because he is smarter than any of the others." "When this trouble came a year ago," Rabbi Grodzky said, "a protest was made to the congregation. Now I am going to bring a suit against everyone of the politicians. Don't I still have wine?"

"The only people who have anything to say about me is the Union of Rabbis at Washington, of which I am member. Nobody else had anything to say, no one man."

Next Sunday my four congregations will meet and say I am a R. Rabbi Grodzky declares there were only four genuine orthodox rabbis in St. Louis, including himself.

FORMER BREWERS FILE BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS

Edward Wagner Sr. and Edward Wagner Jr. Signed Notes for Forest Park Company.

Voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed today by Edward Wagner, 2312 Shenandoah avenue, and his son, Edward Jr., 4010 Magnolia avenue, former officers of the Forest Park Brewing Co., Forest Park, Edward and Spring avenue, which was taken out of bankruptcy in February, 1917, following a reorganization.

Edward Wagner Sr. lists liabilities of $135,472.15 and assets of $119. The assets include $50 worth of household goods, and $50 worth of personal property, for which exemption is claimed.

Edward Jr. lists liabilities of $44,424.70 and assets of $120. The assets include $50 worth of household goods, $50 worth of personal property, on which exemption is claimed, and $10 in bank.

The elder Wagner is not now actively engaged in business, although he is a vice president of the Bernard E. Mohr Machinery Co., Edward Jr. is master brewer at the Griesedieck Bros. Brewing Co.

The liabilities of both result from indorsement of notes on which money was borrowed to continue the operation of the Forest Park Brewing Co., which now is out of the possession of the Wagners.

Among the liabilities of Edward Wagner Sr. is a loan of $2500 from the late John H. Vette, money lender, and loans of $11,147 from personal friends.

The elder Wagner today said the actions were a direct result of the financial difficulties of the brewery, which were caused partly by prohibition agitation, although prohibition laws were not actually in effect at that time.

PATROLMAN IS DISMISSED

Traffic Officer Gets 90 Hours of Extra Duty for Lengthy Lunch.

Patrolman Joseph V. Taylor, who while directing traffic at Seventh and Chouteau at 11:15 a. m., July 20 met an old friend, went to lunch with him and did not get back to his post until 3 p. m., yesterday was ordered by the Police Board to 36 hours of extra duty.

Motorcycle Patrolman William R. Miller was dismissed from the force which he entered six years ago, on a charge of making a false report on Aug. 7. Witnesses said his motorcycle was found abandoned, without flat tire, at Union boulevard and Natural Bridge avenue, some distance from his beat, in the center part of town. Miller and three witnesses testified that he reported the flat tire when it blew out at Chouteau and Compton avenues, and waited there for the trouble wagon.

TEACHER HELD ON CHARGE OF TAKING PART IN FLOGGING

Released by Military at Tulsa,
He Is Arrested by Civil Authorities—Deputy Sheriff
Also Accused.

By the Associated Press.
TULSA, Ok., Aug. 22.—Charges were filed against another alleged flogger yesterday as a result of the State's inquiry into mob activities in Tulsa County.

W. W. Wilcox, superintendent of the Consolidated School near Alsuma, after being released by the military authorities here, was arrested by civil authorities and charged with taking part in the whipping of J. W. Lawhorn, a Jinks merchant, on the night of June 4, 1932. Wilcox was released on $1500 bond.

Marshall Moore, a special Deputy Sheriff, also is charged with taking part in the Lawhorn flogging. With the reduction of the number of State troops on duty here to less than 100, military rule has become less rigorous. Adjutant-General Markham, however, announced that no further reduction was contemplated.

Governor Sayers Troops Will Stay Till Mob Leaders Are Punished.

By the Associated Press.
SHAWNEE, Ok., Aug. 22.—Gov. Walton pledged himself today to maintain troops at Tulsa until the persons responsible for mob activities in that vicinity are brought to justice.

Addressing the annual convention of the Oklahoma farmers union here yesterday, he explained his action in imposing martial law in Tulsa County, and said:

"I have sent troops to break up that damnable ring at Tulsa, and so help me God, they will remain there until the perpetrators of the outrages are brought to justice."

In defending his administration, Gov. Walton declared he would resign if anyone in the State could show a single instance wherein he had "double-crossed" the farmer or laborer.

Attacking what he termed the "kept press of the State," Gov. Walton asserted that he had only one way of taking "the truth to the people and that was by word of mouth." The entire press of the State consistently had refused to print the facts about his administration, he charged.

NEW FROCKS FOR FALL

Broadcast Fashion's Edicts for the Season's Smart Costumes, Moderately Priced

Distinctive Frocks of $45 Sizes 34 to 44. Three Models Illustrated

TIERs, tucks, flounces and drapes are fashion's foremost contributions to Fall apparel, and these innovations are all interestingly executed in this group.

Frocks of luxurious silk materials—satin, crepe-back satin, and crepe de chine adopt the modes best suited to their texture. The satins made with smart drapes and panels, the crepe de chine with pleated tiers and flounces.

The Coat Dresses of Poiret will be delightful with their restraint to tailored lines. Fine tucks, buttons, and pockets jauntily placed all serve to enhance the beauty of the material, and the slender lines of madame or mademoiselle.

And style and quality of materials are not the only virtues of this group—every Frock is carefully tailored and finished thus producing the best effect. (Third Floor.)

ESTATE OF PHYSICIAN TO NURSE-ASSISTANT

Relatives of Dr. Robert F. Amyx Surprised When Will Is Filed.

Everybody interested told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday that the filing of a will left by Dr. Robert F. Amyx, a member of the staff of the St. Louis Mullanphy Hospital, who died Aug. 5, in which he bequeathed his entire estate to his nurse-assistant, Miss Margaret Lynch, was a surprise.

His sister, Mrs. Amy A. Margrave of 1943 North Eleventh street, had asked for letters of administration the day after his death, believing no such testament was in existence. She was one of the two heirs to his estate, she declared, the other being Josephine D. Peters, a half-sister.

Miss Lynch said yesterday she did not know Dr. Amyx had made a will and had no intimation of its terms. In the document Dr. Amyx wrote that he left her his property "in recognition of her long and faithful services as an employee in my office."

The nurse declined to enlarge upon this comment except to say, "I would only working for him and he didn't tell me about his business affairs."

Worked in Office 10 Years.

Dr. E. D. Margrave, a nephew of Dr. Amyx, told the reporter that Miss Lynch had been his uncle's assistant for about 10 years.

Mrs. Margrave, in her application to the Probate Court, stated that Dr. Amyx's principal holding was the two-story brick office building at the North Eleventh street address, with its equipment, which she appraised at $3500.

Dr. Margrave declared yesterday that a search for hidden assets had been made but nothing found.

"I believe this plan represents all my uncle had when he died," he said. "He never was a business man and while he had a large practice and a handsome income he would buy stock in oil wells and silver mines and was an easy mark for book agents. He did a great deal of charity work also."

Dr. Amyx had been married but obtained a divorce from Harriet Amyx in 1920 on the grounds of desertion. At that time he made a payment of $2000 to Mrs. Amyx, court records show. She now is living in California.

He was a graduate of the old Marion Sims College of Medicine which was absorbed by St. Louis University. He specialized in surgery and was a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. Professional associates said at the time of his death that he collapsed from overwork in attending to his large practice.

Dr. Margrave told the reporter that he had a verbal understanding with his uncle that the practice and office building would descend to him. He graduated from Washington University last year and at present is an interne at the City Hospital.

A. C. F. Meyer, president of the Lafayette-South Side Bank, who was a close friend of Dr. Amyx, stated that he knew nothing of the doctor's business affairs but was under the impression that he was not wealthy.

Neither Mrs. Margrave nor her son would say whether they contemplated a contest.

DETROIT RAISES CAR FARE TO MEET WAGE INCREASES

Six Cent Fare, Nine for Half Dollar, Will Be Rate After Sept. 1.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 22.—Increased wages amounting to $600,000 a year granted platform men in the employ of the Detroit department of street railways, increased power costs and contemplated wage increases for other employees will wipe out the net profit of $1,000,000 made by the municipal-owned street car lines for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1933, Ross S. Brann, assistant general manager of the line said today in announcing increased rates for street car fares.

The fares will be increased Sept. 2 from 5 to 6 cents with 1 cent for transfers. Nine tickets will be sold for 50 cents, under the new plan.

The fare increase is effective on all street car lines in Detroit. All lines are municipally owned.

WRINKLES

Gently Lifted Away
Wonderful New Method
Banishes Every Line

Thanks to a new and wonderful discovery, it is now no longer necessary for anyone to have the face disfigured by tired lines, tiny crows' feet, and deep-seated wrinkles. They can be smoothed away, almost as if by magic, and the face restored to its natural youthfulness and charm. This new discovery is called Domino Wrinkle Cream. The great difference between this marvelous wrinkle remover and most other treatments is that the latter attempt merely to cover up or conceal wrinkles, while Domino Wrinkle Cream gets at the cause of them. By treating the cause, each line and wrinkle is gently lifted away, leaving the complexion smooth and wonderfully youthful. Even after the first few days' use, the face looks years younger than before.

Now that unsightly lines and wrinkles can be made to disappear so easily, why go through life looking tired and old? Why not have a skin that is clear and smooth? Why not have the appearance and charm of youth? Domino Wrinkle Cream is guaranteed to remove each and every wrinkle, and a special $10.00 bank deposit backs up this guarantee. If you are not more than delighted with results your money will be instantly refunded. Domino Wrinkle Cream is sold at drug and department stores everywhere, such as: Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Johnson Bros., Enderle Stores, St. Bar & Fuller and Nuts Department Store.

3 CHILDREN AMONG 7 PERSONS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Girl, 7, Suffers Fracture of Skull When Hit After Jumping Off Ice Wagon.

Three children and four adults were injured in seven automobile accidents yesterday.

Lucille Cogan, 7 years old, 2104 California avenue, suffered a fracture of the skull when knocked down in front of 4410 Louisiana avenue, after jumping from the rear step of an ice wagon, by an automobile driven by Max Walsterfeld, 44, of 5418 Arsenal street.

Millard Fritz, 7, of 4935 Lee avenue, suffered abdominal injuries and concussion of the brain when knocked down, at Grand boulevard and Florissant avenue, and Jake Rauts, 11, of 8775 McPherson avenue, suffered skull fracture, when knocked from his bicycle, in front of 5747 Waterman avenue.

Margaret Frick, 7, of 1424 Meard street, suffered lacerations of the scalp, when struck, at Seventh and Soudard streets, by an automobile driven by Mrs. Margaret Diehm, 1105 Alamo avenue. The automobile then collided with another parked at the curb.

Other pedestrians struck were: Miss Gusdie Ebner, 31, of 4449 Arcé avenue, who suffered lacerations of the head, arms and knees. In front of 1165 North Taylor avenue, John Millet, 47, of 1116 South Fourteenth street, fracture of the right leg, injuries to right hip, in front of 1416 South Thirteenth street; Robert Woods, 32, of 3697 Morgan street, concussion of the brain and internal injuries, at Washington boulevard and Ewing avenue.

WASHINGTON U. INSTRUCTOR IS AWARDED A DIVORCE

Another Divorce Case Involving Teacher at Cleveland High School Set for Trial.

A divorce from Mrs. Edna B. Drake, 22 years old, a teacher of Tucson, Ariz., was granted today by Judge Frey to Charles B. Drake, 26, of the American Annex Hotel, an instructor at Washington University. They were married June 21, 1915, at Gretna, La., and Drake alleged that his wife deserted him at Cambridge, Mass., in October of the same year. On application of counsel for Mrs. Drake her maiden name, Oakley, was restored to her.

Another divorce case before Judge Frey was that of Mrs. Edna M. Bishop, of 5485 Delmar boulevard, against George W. Bishop, a teacher at Cleveland High School. Judge Frey denied an application by Bishop's counsel for a continuance, and granted a change of venue and transferred the case to Judge Hamilton's Court for trial tomorrow.

Mrs. Bishop told the court her husband, who is spending the school vacation period in Coles County, Ill., had failed to pay temporary alimony of $100, agreed upon last June, and had sent her only $50 since then for support of herself and 15-year-old daughter. She has charged him with non-support and violent conduct toward her. They were married in 1907 and separated last May. Bishop is said to have obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce in Coles County. In a suit filed prior to his wife's action here.

MUST LABEL ALL TRUCKS

Police Chief Calls Attention to City Ordinance's Provisions.

Automobile trucks that do not have names and addresses of owners painted on the sides and automobiles with license plates obscured by mud, dirt or other obstructions will subject the owner or driver to arrest Friday, Chief of Police O'Brien announced today in sending out a warning to drivers.

It has been brought to the attention of the Chief, he said, that many trucks are without a name or address on the sides, and also that some owners simply chalk the name and address on the trucks, which does not conform to the ordinance. Several "truck burglaries" lately have caused a police suspicion that possibly trucks without names or addresses may have been used to haul away the plunder.

Fundamental Wealth

Really has been, is, and always will be the backbone of our wealth.

An active real estate market together with much building is invariably an indication of economic health. These are the reasons we are confining our activities to realty investments in Greater St. Louis. Where conditions are economically sound will always find the greatest opportunity for profit. A study of these fundamental truths about fundamental wealth will disclose why our investments earn 5%.

INDIAN SCHOOL STANDARD HIGH

Commissioner Burke of U. S. Indian Bureau Urges Its Importance.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Education of the American Indian is considered by the government as its paramount duty to the charges of Indian bureau, commissioner Burke declared yesterday in opening a conference of Indian School supervisors. The utmost vigilance will be insisted upon, in maintaining the highest standard of instruction in Indian schools, and in co-operation with medical authorities for protection of the physical welfare of Indian children.

PILES Cured KNIFE

No Cutting, No Chloroform, No Hospital, No Danger, No Loss of Time.

Operation Not Necessary. Sufferers of Piles, Hemorrhoids, itching and protruding Piles, who fear the knife and who have not been relieved of the continued and dreadful pain or bleeding, will find relief and quick relief in the new, safe, gentle method of treatment—given all day, every day, in a sure and guaranteed cure and has proven a blessing to thousands of sufferers. It is the necessary, in a hospital and take that dangerous chloroform.

Piles are dangerous and should not be neglected. Medical authorities state that they often result in serious complications such as cancer, consumption, etc. often the cause of fatal disease, hemorrhage and rectal shock. Do not allow them to become complicated and rob you of your vitality, ambition and earning ability. Call at once or write today. My Pile Treatment is mild and soothing—it brings quick relief and cures in days.

Mr. Joseph Hunter, 48 years old, a sufferer for 15 years, tells briefly his experience. Here it is, in many words. He says: "Don't delay, but come now and be cured. It will be worth much money and comfort to you."

Dr. C. Matthew Coe, 201 Pine St., St. Louis, Mo., July 24, 1933. Mr. Hunter writes: "You cured me of a bad case of Piles, with which I have been afflicted 15 years. I suffered greatly all these years and paid out money, time, and money, and all kinds of medicine, but you cured me perfectly. I called at your office about twelve o'clock, while you were treating, which certainly was a relief to me. I did not lose one day's work from my work while under your treatment."

Dr. Coe, since you cured my children of their Piles, I wish to thank you for the way you made it for me in one day. Your very grateful patient and friend, PHILIP R. HEDER, 210 Locust St.

Why are you suffering when a simple operation can be done in your room? Remember, I give consultation and make examinations at no office FREE of charge and give consultation by mail. ## FLIERS WILL PHOTOGRAPH ECLIPSE

20,000 Feet From Field at San Diego They Hope to Escape Clouds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The project, as suggested by General Patrick, chief of the War Department, and approved by the War Department, provides for the use of the world's altitude record, to make the photographs of the eclipse. The flight will take place at Rockwell Field, San Diego, Cal., Sept. 10, in the area of the world's altitude record. It will be possible to obtain photographs of the earth, surface features and shadows for a considerable part of the interval between the beginning of the eclipse and the totality.

"The moon's shadow will pass over the surface of the earth at a speed of more than 1000 miles an hour. From an elevation of 20,000 feet, Lieut. Stevens should see the shadow for more than a minute and be able to secure photographs of it in its stages of approach.

Should there be clouds between the airplane and the ground, it is expected that photographs of the moon's shadow thrown on the intervening clouds will be obtained. During the transition, after the shadow has passed, a filter will be used and photographs made of the sun itself in an effort to get effects of the photosphere, protuberances, chromosphere and corona.

PHYSICIAN'S PRESCRIPTION BRINGS WELCOME NEWS TO HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE SUFFERERS

Professional jealousy in the medical profession is well known. And when so many doctors agree on Bi-alin it is a very important sign to high blood pressure sufferers, particularly those who know enough not to quit fighting the condition even for a day.

This prescription of a brother-physician is so successful that the usual suspicion of the profession against a standardized tablet treatment has vanished.

The fact is that high blood pressure symptoms—dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, nervous attacks, frequent headaches ringing in the ears and shortness of breath—do quickly disappear under Bi-alin's influence.

Careful records of numerous cases established the absolute harmlessness of the treatment.

Bi-alin acts immediately upon the poisons in your system that cause the pressure, and normal pressure may be looked for in short order. Just two days treatment with Bi-alin is sufficient to bring a wonderful feeling of well-being.

Bi-alin is sold with a guarantee of genuine relief from the very first bottle, or your full purchase price will be refunded. Judge for yourself.

You can get Bi-alin from all good druggists such as Enderle Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph, Johnson Bros.

PROGRESS IN THE CRIPPLED CHILD
BY ST. LOUIS

Improvement Ranging Correction of Physcomplied

A report of the disposition program of 87 crippled children entered upon treatment follow-the St. Louis Medical Society's clinic last April was given today
the society's Committee on Pub-Health and Instruction.

It shows that improvement, ranging from slight to complete correction of physical deformity, was accomplished in 84 of the 87 children three being returned to the homes as beyond medical or surgical aid. To accomplish this, 46 of the children were hospitalized, average of 47 days; 46 were operated upon, some as many as four times;
25 were supplied with correct braces; 16 were put into plaster cases were placed in traction or complete demobilization, eight were referred for hydro-therapeutic treatment and four were given correcting shoes. More than 25 children are in hospitals and many will remain for periods of several months more than a year.

Some Still Attending Clinics.
The other 31 children were referred to the clinics of Washington and St. Louis Universities and John's and Mullanphy Hospitals in Missouri, Baptist Sanatorium, Missouri, and others still are in attendance at the clinics.

Twenty-five different diagnoses were made among the children, of them suffering from more than one ailment. Thirty-five per cent of the children were suffering from the effects of infantile paralysis. The next largest percentage was trisomy. Fourteen children were afflicted with club feet and the committee notes with gratification the member surgeons of the society who were able to completely correct each of these cases.

In compliance with the offer the Medical Society, the medical surgical and hospital care of the children was without charge to the parents, who were unable to pay.
In addition, the co-operation of private agencies, such as the Children's Society, made it possible for many of the children to be placed in homes, which makes further progress to mental and physical normality probable. Many children whom the maximum correction of deformity has been accomplished still are being retained in hospitals so that their general welfare can be built up to a degree not possible in their home surroundings.

State Again Criticized.
Conditions disclosed by the survey has impelled the committee to demand even more sternly the action of the State for neglect of crippled children made at the conclusion of its first annual clinic held 1922.

"It is again forcibly brought the attention of this committee the disclosure of the clinic that crippled children in Missouri are totally neglected," is the committee's report. "The neglect is a shameful disgrace upon the State. This claim is not a generality but is based upon many specific facts of which
the following are samples."

"Thirty of the 87 cases treated were from rural districts, chiefly Missouri. Most of the afflicted the rural children were of an standing as evidenced by the fact that 31 per cent of the children treated were past 12 years old.
12 per cent were past 6 years.
Significant neglect, reaching less neglect becomes more tragic in view of the fact that the country of St. Louis is relatively small.
The neglect is not a generality but is based upon many specific facts of which
the following are samples."

"The State maintains no assessment out these crippled children, and if they were sought out, State offers no institution for their care. Happily, St. Louis is awar-ing to its responsibility for its crippled children as evidenced by Board of Education's recent decision to provide specialized education for them. The State yet is obdurate its responsibility. The need of State hospital for these children is obvious."

"The existence of many hundreds of neglected children is further evidenced by the fact that following the close of its examination of the Medical Society received letters of inquiry from points out St. Louis, chiefly in Missouri, from parents or interested persons telling of some crippled children needing treatment, but none because of inability to pay to pay. The Medical Society referred cases to the Red Cross or private health authorities in the community in the hope that the medical authorities would attend to them. These cases were the responsibility of the State of Missouri."

"Perhaps a specific instance serve to illustrate the penalty of State's neglect and the imperious demand that the neglect shall be corrected. There came into the an 11-year-old girl from the

PROGRESS IN TREATMENT OF CRIPPLED CHILDREN REPORTED BY ST. LOUIS MEDICAL SOCIETY

Improvement Ranging From Slight to Complete Correction of Physical Deformity Accomplished in 94 of 97 Cases.

A report of the disposition and progress of 97 crippled children who entered upon treatment following the St. Louis Medical Society's free clinic last April was given today by the society's Committee on Public Health and Instruction.

It shows that improvement, ranging from slight to complete correction of physical deformity, was accomplished in 94 of the 97 children, only three being returned to their homes as beyond medical or surgical aid. To accomplish this, 46 of the children were hospitalized an average of 47 days; 40 were operated upon, some as many as four times, 25 were supplied with corrective braces, 16 were put into plaster casts, 15 were placed in traction or complete immobilization, eight were treated for hydro-therapeutic treatment and four were given corrective shoes. More than 20 children still are in hospitals and many will remain for periods of several months more than a year.

Some Still Attending Clinics. The other 51 children were referred to the clinics of Washington John and Mullanphy Hospitals and Missouri Baptist Sanitarium. Many of these still are in attendance at the clinics.

Twenty-five different diagnoses were made among the children: 15 of them suffering from more than one ailment. Thirty-five per cent of the children were suffering from the effects of infantile paralysis. The next largest percentage was from rickets. Fourteen children were afflicted with club feet and the committee notes with gratification that minor surgery of the society were able to completely correct each of these cases.

In compliance with the offer of the Medical Society, the medical, surgical and hospital care of the children was without charge to their parents, who were unable to pay. In addition, the co-operation of public agencies, such as the Children's Aid Society, made it possible for many of the children to be placed in homes, which makes further progress to mental and physical normality possible. Many children in whom the maximum correction of deformity has been accomplished still are being retained in hospitals so that their general welfare can be built up to a degree not possible in their home surroundings.

State Again Criticized. Conditions disclosed by the survey have impelled the committee to re-emphasize even more sternly its criticism of the State neglect of crippled children made at the conclusion of its first annual clinic held in 1922.

It is again forcibly brought to the attention of this committee by the disclosures of this clinic that crippled children in Missouri are being totally neglected," is the comment, "and the neglect is a shameful reflection upon the State. This criticism is not a generalization but is based upon many specific facts of which the following are samples.

"Fifty of the 97 cases treated were from rural districts, chiefly in Missouri. Most of the afflicted children of the rural children were of long standing as evidenced by the fact that 21 per cent of the children treated were past 12 years old. Sixty per cent were past five years. This neglect becomes more tragic in light of the fact that the country children's ailments were relatively simple and yielded to treatment. However, the greater chance for maximum improvement exists when the child is young. Those who were completely regenerated could have been had if received treatment earlier in their lives.

State Hospital Needed. "The State maintains no agency to seek out these crippled children and if they were sought out, the State offers no institution for their care. Happily, St. Louis is awakened to its responsibility for its crippled children as evidenced by the Board of Education's recent decision to provide specialized education for them. The State yet is oblivious of its responsibility for these children is obvious.

The existence of many hundreds of neglected children is further established by the fact that following the close of its examination clinic, the Medical Society received 203 letters of inquiry from points within St. Louis, chiefly in Missouri, from parents or interested friends, many telling of some crippled child needing treatment, but receiving no response because of inability of parents to pay. The Medical Society referred these cases to the Red Cross or to local medical authorities in the hope that local medical authorities would attend to them. These cases were properly the responsibility of the State of Missouri.

"Perhaps a specific instance will serve to illustrate the penalty of the State's neglect and the imperative demand that the neglect shall be terminated. There came into the clinic an 11-year-old girl from the Ozark

FARRIS PROPOSAL IS BROUGHT TO FRONT

Democratic Leader's Scheme Would Let Five Major Elective Officers Fix Boundary Lines.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 22.—Slowly but surely the Democrats in the constitutional convention, although numerically one less than the Republicans, are battering down the determination of the majority to write into the proposed constitution a new set of State senatorial districts.

On every side they are besting the Republicans, who are being borne largely by Polite Elvins, Bonnie Terre and H. H. McClure of Kansas City, Republican members of the Re-districting Committee.

Senator Frank H. Farris of Rolla, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was offered a provision which would leave redistricting to the five major elective State officers.

Although the Republicans regard this as far preferable to having the matter left in hands of the Legislature, as first proposed by Farris, it is not by any means what the Republicans came here to get relief from the gerrymander which has been in effect since 1901 and under which the Republicans have fought, outmaneuvered and defeated in the past.

The Republicans, although they had had it in mind for two years, were not ready for the fight when it broke. They had no set of proposed new districts ready, they had no plan for acquiring with their own hands the present districts and they were without a common plan of action.

Accepted by Many Republicans. The Farris plan, as agreed to by former Circuit Judge Charles F. Williams of Webster Groves, C. M. Morris of St. Joseph, President C. M. Shartel, Elvins and other Republicans, would provide that in 1925, if the proposed amendment to the constitution is adopted, the Governor, Attorney-General, Secretary of State, Auditor and State Treasurer shall redistrict, and that within six months after the taking of each decennial census thereafter the process shall be repeated by holders of the same offices.

This has the advantage, Farris pointed out, of making redistricting one of the issues upon which those officials would be elected, and would give voters a direct opportunity to express themselves on the matter. The result was that he secured the office of Governor and served the full term and was again elected in 1925.

Neither I nor any one of this office had any knowledge of anything unfavorable in the Governor's previous record. Will so into the matter thoroughly. The reason for the reopening of the case at this time is perfectly apparent.

The question contained no reference to statements in press dispatches from Manila that Rodriguez was convicted of being an accomplice to the murder of J. J. Barry of the Twenty-seventh United States Infantry, and the War Department was said to be without any record of a conviction of Rodriguez resulting from the death of Barry.

CHARGES AGAINST WOOD APPOINTEE RECEIVED

War Department Gets Cable Saying Mayor of Manila Is "Ex-Convict."

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—A cablegram from Manuel Quezon, charging that Gov. Wood of the Philippines had appointed Eulogio Rodriguez, "an ex-convict," as Mayor of Manila, was received yesterday at the War Department.

At the same time, a message from Gen. Wood reached the Department in which he declared he had no previous knowledge of "anything unfavorable" in Rodriguez's record and said he was making a thorough investigation of the charges.

Wood's cablegram follows: "Half an hour ago, information reached me that Eulogio Rodriguez, who was recently appointed by me as Mayor of Manila, was convicted in 1906 by a military court martial and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in Bilibid. He was 16 years old at that time and served his sentence. He was released in June, 1901, and served as an interpreter for the United States Army from 1901 to 1902, and was continued in other capacities in the United States Government service until 1907.

"In 1909 he was appointed by Gov. Gen. Smith as Mayor of his town, Montalban, Rizal, and was elected Governor of the Province of Rizal, completing his term in 1919. In 1922 he was re-elected Governor of Rizal and served in this capacity until equipped with a military commission. He has been a very efficient Governor. I am informed that at the time of his first election as Governor an Administration investigation was held by the Governor General with reference to the charges of which he had been convicted. The result was that he resumed the office of Governor and served the full term and was again elected in 1922.

"Neither I nor any one of this office had any knowledge of anything unfavorable in the Governor's previous record. Will so into the matter thoroughly. The reason for the reopening of the case at this time is perfectly apparent.

The question contained no reference to statements in press dispatches from Manila that Rodriguez was convicted of being an accomplice to the murder of J. J. Henry Kirchmeier Named to Succeed Him as Committee Man.

By the Associated Press. CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—If Greece continues to progress in the next 100 years as she has in the past century, she will be one of the greatest nations of the world. Dr. George R. Montgomery, said yesterday at the Conference on International Relations from the Christian Viewpoint, held under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches.

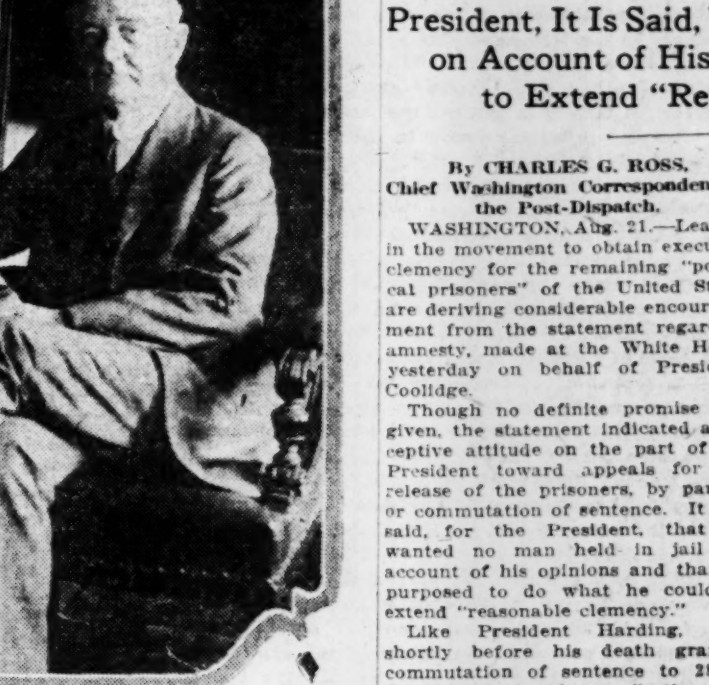

Dr. Montgomery was one of America's advisers on the Near East at the Versailles peace conference and attended the Lausanne conference as an observer for the Federal Council of Churches and the Near East Relief.

He declared that in spite of the fact that Greece had suffered more since than during the war it was making rapid strides. He also prophesied a bright future for the Armenian Republic, if it could have 25 years of peace.

URGES HELP FOR COUNTRIES THAT WINE-MAKING NATIONS FORCE TO WEAKEN DRY LAWS

President of Alcoholic Congress Tells How France, Spain and Portugal Coerce Norway, Finland and Iceland.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News. (Copyright, 1923).

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 22.—VIII the prohibitionist nations unite and defend themselves against the action recently taken by the wine-growing states to compel repeal of their prohibition laws?

This question was placed squarely before the Anti-Alcoholism Congress today by its president, Dr. Herold of Switzerland.

To the American delegation the question was: Will the delegation advise the prohibition forces in America to urge the United States Government to protest to France, Spain and Portugal against their threat of commercial boycott, tantamount to a threat of starvation, against Norway, Finland and Iceland? By virtue of this, it was explained, two of these three northern countries are compelled either to repeal their prohibition laws or include so many exceptions that they become virtually inoperative.

Dr. Herold said France compelled Norway to raise her legal alcoholic percentage from 12 to 14 so as to admit Burgundy wine and to admit the pre-war quantity of cognac. Spain and Portugal have demanded that she raise the alcoholic percentage of wines to 18, so as to permit sherries and ports to come in.

Otherwise, they threaten to raise their tariffs so as to make virtually impossible the sale of Norwegian fish and the navigation of Norwegian ships in the waters of these countries or of their colonies. Since the export of fish is Norway's chief means of purchasing needed foodstuffs, this is virtually a starvation threat.

Norway's prohibition laws, Dr. Herold said, already have become a source of gossip. I will enforce prohibition as strictly as any law can be enforced in Missouri."

In addition DeHart said that his appointment was brought about by E. M. Mori, former Governor of Porto Rico, who personally visited President Harding in his behalf. He denied he had the endorsement of National Committee Babler or of E. L. (Livy) Moore, but said he had the support of Mayor Kiel, Congressman Newton and Dyer, Walter S. Dickey and several Federal officials in Kansas City.

U. S. AND CUBA NEAR RAILROAD BILL ACCORD

Charges That Measure Is Disciplinary or Anti-American Denied.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—"Consideration of the difference between Washington and Havana over the proposed consolidation of Cuban railroads has reached a stage where plans for an adjustment satisfactory to both Governments are in process of formulation here.

Thus far nothing definite has been said, but the State Department now is advised fully of the arguments put forward, both for and against the proposed legislation, and it is known that some officials at least believe the way can be opened to an agreement which will remove the necessity for any more direct action by the United States. In addition, the State Department officials have careful consideration today to a statement left at the department by Col. J. M. Tarafa, sponsor of the measure, after he had conferred with Secretary Hughes and Ambassador Crowder. This statement declared charges that the legislation was discriminatory or anti-American were wholly unfounded.

Propaganda "Alleged." Details of any suggestions this Government may make for modification of the bill were withheld, nor would Secretary Hughes comment on his talk with Col. Tarafa. In other quarters, however, it was learned that the statement left at the Department attributed the opposition to "propaganda" on the part of sugar companies, and declared that the conflict was not one between American and Cuban interests. Instead, Col. Tarafa held, it involved a fight by the sugar men to retain privileges which "constitute a real menace to the future of the island, if extended."

It also was declared in the statement that, contrary to published reports, the bill did not propose to close any port in Cuba. The only terminal facilities affected, it was said, were private "piers" established by the sugar interests, some of which were to be closed.

Col. Tarafa said he was moved to lay his views before the department at this time because "the American sugar companies are engaged in propaganda through various newspapers here and in Havana, and it is so evident that they are endeavoring to try their case on half truths and prejudicial statements of motive fuel prices."

TO DISCUSS GASOLINE INQUIRY

Ways and Means Will Be Taken Up By the Associated Press. ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 22.—Ways and means for a sweeping nationwide investigation into the question of gasoline prices will be discussed by the National Association of Attorneys General at its convention in Minneapolis next week, it was announced today.

Clifford L. Hilton, Attorney-General of Minnesota, in making this announcement, declared the price situation would be discussed to "determine whether there is a combination or conspiracy in the fixing of prices."

It must not be overlooked that this is not a controversy between American interests and Cuban interests, but is a controversy between American interests investing in sugar and American interests investing in Cuban Government bonds and railroad securities.

"There never has been any proposal made to close any port. It must be understood first that what are so-called ports in this legislation, which are owned by these American sugar companies, are simply piers which they have built out into the water adjacent to their sugar lands, to which piers they have built private railways of short mileage. They have induced the Cuban Government to build them with a customs official, whose salary was to be paid, and then have proceeded to export and import or to engage in international trade.

the great gain of saving 10 per cent, or a reasonable percentage, of each salary installment is not so much in the total of money accumulated as in the strengthening of character. It is twice blessed, for it adds to both moral and material possessions. Self-control is a great richness, and by nothing else is self-control so much developed as by saving.

IOWA GOVERNOR TO TAKE WESTERN TRIP FOR HEALTH

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—Gov. N. E. Kendall expects to leave by next Monday for the Pacific Coast, where he will spend six weeks or two months, he announced yesterday.

A story that the Governor may resign his office before he starts on his vacation was printed in the Des Moines Capital, which reported that the step would be taken at the command of his physicians, who have informed him that only by entirely relinquishing the cares of official life for a long period will he be able to recover his health.

The Governor denied that he intended to resign, and declared that his doctors thought he might get relief from heart trouble if he would go to the West for a few weeks.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 22.—Hundreds of Americans, would-be passengers on the damaged Canadian Pacific passenger Empress of Scotland, have been stranded in London and Southampton as a result of the liner having struck a submerged wreck on her way from Hamburg to Southampton yesterday.

The vessel was so badly damaged that her sailing for Quebec today was cancelled. The prospective passengers face an indefinite stay in this country, as other ships due to sail in the near future are booked to capacity until the middle of September.

Some of the first class and second class passengers have been sheltered temporarily in Southampton hotels, but the majority of them have returned to London. A few will sail on a Canadian Pacific boat from Liverpool Saturday but the majority of them are likely to wait until the Empress of Scotland sails, which will probably not be for two or three weeks.

The second class passengers have been scattered over Southampton and nearby resorts, some having even been quartered in farmhouses.

The third class passengers have been sent to Atlantic Park near Southampton, a former American aviation center now used as an English "Ellis Island" here they will be cared for until another Canadian Pacific vessel is available, as these passengers can not be sent through New York. Officials are endeavoring to charter another steamer for the voyage.

The Empress of Scotland will be put in dry dock today. It is believed she had a bad hole punched in her hull and that her starboard engine was damaged when she struck the wreck. One of her holds filled, but the pumps were able to keep the water under control. There was no disturbance among the 200 passengers from Hamburg.

Is It Any Wonder that Millions of Mothers Rely on Lifebuoy?

Kiddies can't help getting dirty—even dangerously dirty. Chubby knees and hands are always being scratched and bruised. Grime is literally ground into tender skin.

And it isn't just honest soil. Curious little hands touch everything and whatever is handled by many people is almost certain to be a spreader of contagion.

Germs Collect on Hands

Most diseases which attack children are caused by germs which find lodgment on the hands and are carried to mouth, nose or food.

Mothers the world over have an abiding faith in the protection of Lifebuoy's wonderful antiseptic lather.

No matter how dirty the kiddies get, Mothers know that the danger is past when the rosy bodies are covered with this creamy, health-guarding lather which penetrates deep down into every pore, removing all impurities and leaving the skin refreshed, sweet and purified.

And how soothing Lifebuoy is to the most delicate skin—how beautifying!

Its rich oils of palm fruit and coconut are the most healthful fats employed in soap-making—the kindest to the skin.

You know Lifebuoy is a true health soap the instant you smell it. It has a wholesome, cleanly, antiseptic odor, pungent while the health ingredient is being released in the lather but disappearing almost immediately. After using Lifebuoy there is no odor on the skin—neither a soap odor nor a skin odor. Lifebuoy is a perfect deodorizer.

Purify Hands Frequently

The cost of Lifebuoy is low, yet no better, purer soap was ever made. Other soaps do not possess its health protective value. In order that everyone in the family may use it constantly place a cake at every place where there is running water.

'PRODIGAL WIFE' WOULD RETURN AS A SERVANT

Divorces Second Husband, Who,
She Alleges, Broke Up Her

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HUGHES, Ark., Aug. 22.—A revised version of the Bible parable of the prodigal son was enacted in real life here in the home-coming of a modern "prodigal wife."

It was the penitent home-coming of Mrs. Pearl C. Boatner Babb, 29, pleading forgiveness from her first husband, L. J. Boatner, whom she had cast aside many months ago to marry another man.

She was divorced recently at Memphis, Tenn., from the man who she says broke up her home. He is Clyde M. Babb, 32, to whom she was married last Feb. 10, the same day she had obtained a decree from Boatner.
Mrs. Babb, after her divorce, came to Hughes, St. Francis County, to join her first husband and 6-year-old son.
In her petition filed against Babb she said:

"Petitioner would fain return to her former home, and to her loved ones, not as the wife of the man she has so cruelly wronged, but as a hired servant that she might ever be near her precious child to minister to his every want as only a mother can."

No promise was made that there was to be a reconciliation. Boat-ner said he would require time to reach a decision.

Last month Mrs. Babb filed her divorce petition against Babb. It
said:

"The petitioner has sown the wind and reaped the whirlwind."
With promises of gay life, Babb, she alleged, persuaded her to forsake her husband, child and home, but that her dreams of happiness never came true. Her hopes were disappointed even after Boatner had obtained a divorce and she was married to Babb, who, she alleged, taunted her that she had "crossed the dead-line of respectability."

"She paid a fearful price for her wicked course and has repented and atoned for her gross sin," the petition set forth.

Victory Over Jones and Ingraham Puts Team in Brookline Semifinals.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22.—William T. Tilden II, Philadelphia, and Bryan L. C. Norton, South Africa, went into the semifinal round of the national doubles tennis tournament here today when they defeated Arnold W. Jones and W. W. Ingraham, the Yale-Harvard combination, in a fourth round match. The scores were 6-1, 6-2, and 6-2.

The most interesting match of the day, that between the Australian Davis Cup team of J. O. Anderson and B. Hawke, and William Johnston and Clarence "Peck" Griffin, was scheduled for later in the day.

"The package I carry to Cuba"

On my visits to the tobacco fields I always take along several boxes of La Palina cigars for my Cuban friends, for in their country there is no cigar like it. The import duty charged in Cuba, on tobacco of the quality I use as wrapper, alone is so great that it prohibits the manufacture of La Palina.

The fact that they cannot buy, in Cuba, a cigar made of the fine tobacco contained in La Palina is not the only reason prominent Cuban tobacco men prefer it. They find in La Palina a mild, full-bodied flavor contained in no other cigar, and which is the same each year.

It is gratifying to me to see that the opinion of these expert judges of tobacco quality is shared, in this country, by so many men whose only requirement of a cigar is that it shall please their taste.

Tilden and Johnston Will Be Davis Cup Singles Reliances; Doubles Team Still in Doubt

Richards Placed on U. S. Quartet After Long Debate, Because No Other Player Seemed to Fill Requirements—Defenders Same Four Who Played Last Year.

By Leased Wire from New York Bureau of Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—William T. Tilden II heads the American team that will stand in defense of the Davis Cup against the challengers from Australasia. The selection of the defenders of the world-famous trophy occupied lengthy sessions by the committee before it was decided to entrust the battles to the same team that had maintained its standing for this country a year ago.

As a result of the deliberations, William M. Johnston, Vincent Richards and R. Norris Williams II were selected upon to stand with Tilden when the final arrangements had been completed yesterday.

Two sessions of the Selection Committee, one in the early afternoon and another in the evening, were held behind closed doors at the Bankers Club. Those in attendance included Robert D. Wrenn, George T. Adie, Harcombe Ward, Harold Hackett, E. H. Behr and Julian S. Myrick. Several conferences were held over long-distance telephone with George W. Wightman in Boston.

Griffin's Name Suggested.

It appeared that propositions to place Clarence J. Griffin or Watson W. Washburn on the team instead of Richards were freely debated and discussed. In the end, however, Richards, who has not been in the best of form since his return from the world's championship at Wimbledon, England, secured the place. The choice was somewhat of a surprise owing to Richards' rather indifferent form.

As the members of the committee viewed the situation, Tilden and Johnston may be depended upon to carry the singles matches of the contest in the series that begins Friday, Aug. 31, on the turf of the Stadium at Forest Hills. It was regarded as necessary to practically insure the victories in the singles. That, according to report, furnished the chief argument that again brought Richards upon the team; for it is regarded as certain that he can be depended upon to replace either Tilden or Johnston successfully in case of accident or injury to either of the top ranking American stars. No other player considered seemed to so completely fill this possible gap.

Doubles Team Problematical.

What the pairing will be for the doubles is problematical. Richards has not competed with Tilden, his old partner in the national championship, this season. Williams, who is expected to get Tilden and Richards together as soon as the national doubles championship tournament is completed.

The fact that Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, the Australasians, defeated Tilden and Richards in the Davis Cup matches a year ago also entered into the calculations.

Arrangements have been made for the American team to come to Forest Hills next week, along with James O. Anderson, John B. Hawke and other Australians. Then intensive practice will begin at once.

Greb Near Limit After Hard Work

Middleweight Title Challenger Sure to Be Strong When He Faces Wilson.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The wise men of Fisticia who are saying that Harry Greb cannot make 160 pounds for Johnny Wilson and be strong, had better change their tune. Those who say he cannot possibly make 160 pounds, weak or strong, had better also change their tune.

Greb went through his first day of hard work at Manhasset, shadow boxing in the hot sun, fighting (not boxing) two rounds with each of six sparring partners, skipping the rope and he finished the job whistling.

On the scales in his dressing room 10 minutes later he weighed 161 1/2 pounds. That is just one pound and a half more than he must make on the afternoon of Aug. 31 at 2 o'clock. He will make the weight easily.

As an evidence that Greb isn't worrying about taking on weight through eating, let your eye run over yesterday morning's breakfast: Two full glasses of orange juice; two cups of coffee; two glasses of water; two whole cantaloupes; one sliced orange; two soft boiled eggs; and one piece of toast.

"I'm a little remarkable when it comes to weight," said Greb. "I fought Bob Moha in Cincinnati one time on a Monday night. I weighed 172 1/2 for Moha, and on the following Monday night I defeated Mike O'Dowd, weighing 155 1/2. I have affidavits to prove it. So why should anyone worry about my weight when it's all play with me?"

Greb and Fay, the amateur, indulged in a real fight. In truth every man who faced the tireless challenger yesterday left the ring with lips or nose bleeding. His sparring mates weighed respectively 200, 178, 175, 165, 155 and 145 pounds.

One man who faced him yesterday was Arthur Kid Carter, who stayed the limit with Wilson at Atlantic City a few weeks ago. Naturally his opinion was worth something, since Greb and he fought like tigers yesterday.

"Greb can beat Wilson—can outpoint him sure. I never had anybody swarm all over me like he can. He hits harder than Wilson and will take my tip, he will stop Wilson in eight rounds."

Kenny Williams' Bat Barred by Johnson's Ruling

A. L. President Prohibits Use of Freak Bludgeons—Double-header Here Today.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Kenny Williams' plucked bat may or may not help him or handicap him in his batting efforts. Jimmy Austin disliked the big hickory bat long enough to much that he hid it in the Cleveland clubhouse and hoped that Williams never would see it again. Williams regarded the piece of wood with such kindly affection that he turned detective after the bat's disappearance and searched the racks of all major league clubs until he found the hickory bludgeon and put it back in the Browns' bat bag.

Therefore it is seen that Williams and his manager differ as to whether the bat is suited to Williams. Both agree that the bat is not a freak bat. The plug, inserted in the end of the bat to make it lighter, is not more than three-quarters of an inch in diameter and the plug is of hard wood, though lighter than the hickory from which the bat is turned.

But there will be no further argument as to the hickory bat. Williams can contend all he wants that the bat is within the law, that it is not a freak bat and he probably will sing the blues for a few weeks in his own individual way. But it will avail him nothing.

Sam Johnson has ruled that all freak bats are taboo, that there must be no plugging or doctoring of bats. And so Williams' bat is barred. Tim Johnson after Manager Owen Bush of the Senators protested Williams' use of the plugged bat. As Johnson's ruling, therefore, was made on a specific case, the umpires now will not permit Williams to use the bludgeon.

And so the Browns have something more to worry them. Williams' bat is barred. Manager Jim Austin and infielder Frank Ellerbe are under suspension. Hubert Pruett's pitching arm is in a sling. Baby Doll Johnson has a painful hitting slump. Doc Wright has a sore arm and the Browns are only a half game above the second division. Five consecutive games have been lost to the Yankees and three to Washington. The White Sox, in sixth place, are only three games behind the Browns. The team has many troubles that it has difficulty concentrating on the business of winning ball games.

Peck Holds 1923 Infieding Record

Washington Shortstop Accepted 15 Chances in Game Here—Bob Wallace Holds Record

(Copyright, 1923.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Roger Peckinpaugh has the 1923 big league record for infieding to date. His 15 chances accepted against St. Louis puts him in front. Olson of Brooklyn and Gerber of St. Louis were the former leaders but Peck has gone them one better.

Fifteen is not the major league record for all baseball but it is for the season of 1922 and brings the mark up to the point where the fielding looks more respectable compared with that of other years. Some of the very best hand-picked infieders have not been worrying along this season as well as they did last year and, on the other hand, some of the old timers have been doing better.

That stalwart young man by the name of Stephenson who has been playing second base for Cleveland while Wambersans has been on the bench, has started on a career which has tied him with some of the veterans and if he had been playing all reason, goodness knows where it might have led to. During the brief period he has been playing second for the Indians he has accepted nine chances on eight different occasions. He has taken 10 chances three times, but that isn't half the marvel of taking nine chances eight times. Peckinpaugh's feat equals the infieding high mark of 1922, which was made by Wrightstone of the Philadelphia Nationals. Dykes with 17 chances in 1921 and Pratt with 16 in 1920. The best mark made by Peckinpaugh prior to his latest exploit was 14 and he also had a 13, so that he has gone up the scale very well. The American League record at short is 17, made by Bobby Wallace.

Hot Race in National League.

The race is beginning up again in the National League with the Giants apparently slipping fast and the Cincinnati showing signs of coming to life again. The Giants have 26 games left to play and if they win 27 of them they capture the championship, no matter what their opponents do. But they are not playing ball at that clip at the present time. English Sportsmen Not Sure Papyrus Is Best British Three-Year-Old

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—OWNERS of some of the largest racing stables in England do not share the view expressed in dispatches from New York that a race between Zev and Papyrus would be at all in the nature of a world's championship, or even a match between the best 3-year-olds on either side of the Atlantic.

There is no popular feeling here that Papyrus is the best British 3-year-old; in fact there has been no outstanding horse in this class on the English tracks, this year.

On paper Papyrus seems to be just as good as any. He has not raced since he won the Derby by a slim margin from Pharos; but he will soon get a good test in the St. Leger stakes.

Race-going folk are particularly hopeful that Ben Irish will be able to induce Steve Donoghue to go to America to ride Papyrus. This jockey, who has won five Derbies, is regarded as without doubt the best man sitting in the saddle today.

MISS LEITCH'S INJURED ARM IMPROVING SLOWLY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Word has been received here to the effect that Miss Cecil Leitch, premier golf woman of England and four-time winner of the British ladies' championship, soon will be able to resume playing. While here two years ago, Miss Leitch shortly before returning home, injured her arm in a match played on one of the Long Island courses. She attempted to play last year but after getting through to the finals in the championship the injury became so aggravated that it was feared she would never again be able to swing a golf club. It is now believed that she will be ready to resume playing by the end of the season and that she also will be ready to make another effort to regain her lost laurels in the British championship next year.

Glenna Collett to Seek British Title

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 22.—Miss Glenna Collett of this city, national woman golf champion, expects to retain her title in the national tournament at the West-Chester Biltmore Country Club beginning October 1 and declares her intention of seeking the British women's championship next year.

Miss Collett is inclined to regard Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta as her chief rival for this year's title. She is in view of a report that Miss Stirling recently played an Atlanta course in 73.

Untidy to Run in Elimination Test

Crack Filly's Trainer Is Out to Win $100,000 and International Title.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Scott P. Harlan, trainer of the Green Tree stable of Mrs. Payne Whitney, announced yesterday that the Green Tree filly Untidy would enter the elimination test for the great $100,000 international race of Belmont Park in October, which is to bring the British Derby winner Papyrus to the United States to meet the American racing together for a world championship decision.

Untidy probably is the smartest three-year-old filly developed this season. Beaten by her running mate, Gaffly, a filly of the H. P. Whitney string in the Pimlico Oaks in May, she traveled to Kentucky to beat Sweetheart, Gaffly and some others in the $10,000 Kentucky Oaks. She was beaten in the Coaching Club American Oaks Renewal, a gallop of one mile and three furlongs at Belmont Park by How Fair and Gaffly, possibly because she had some bad luck at the barrier, but she came back at Aqueduct with a winning performance in the Gazelle renewal.

Wins With Weight Up.

Under 124 pounds, she beat Sunquest, Jacqueline, Julian, Gaffly and How Fair easily. Then she came to Saratoga to win the $10,000 Alabama, at one mile and a quarter for three-year-old fillies, in which she handled 124 pounds again as though it were a feather and whipped Sally's Alley, Sunquest and Betty Beall. She gave weight to everything. Her last appearance was in the Saranac handicap.

Her stable companion, the gelding Cherry Plu, beat her a head because she did not try desperately hard to beat him. Back of Untidy finished the Clown, winner of the last Latonia Derby; Wilderness, winner of the Chesapeake Revival at Havre de Grace and of the Travers; Flagstaff, General Thatcher, Sally's Alley and Dunlin.

A comely but robust daughter of Sweep and Cafe au Lait, Untidy is a homebred and a natural route traveler.

RUSSIA'S WAR ON RELIGION

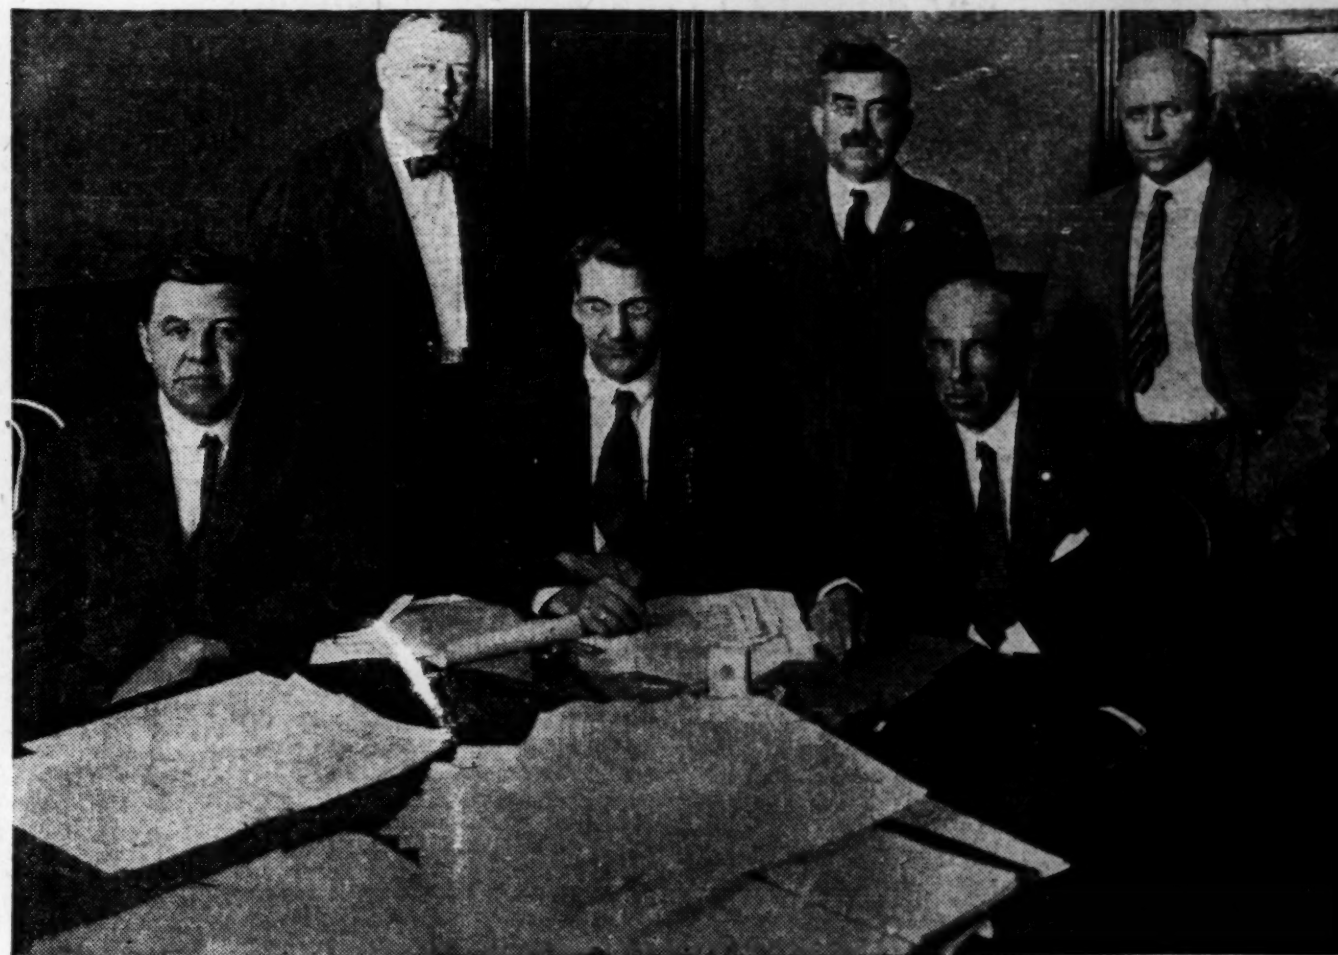

Bones of saints are being dug up from churchyards and crypts and are exposed while lecturers point out that they are just like the bones of ordinary human beings and there is not the slightest evidence of the intervention of supernatural power to save them from the inevitable fate of all men. One Way for an Author to Win Success

When Nina Roberts, an English writer, learned that only 26 volumes of an edition of 2000 of her novel, "Odette," had been sold, she took a regular sample case and peddled the books on the streets of London until all were disposed of. Now magazine publishers are bidding for articles by the plucky girl and she has already contracted to write other novels. —Keynote Photograph.

FROM NOW ON

By FRANK L. PACKARD

A CONTINUED STORY

He frowned—and laughed a little harshly at himself. He was illogical again. He had asked only for three or four days, for a fighting chance, just time enough to get on Millman's trail, hadn't he? And now he was greedy for a permanent and enduring safety-conduct from the police, and his brain mulled and toiled with that objective alone in view, and he stood there now employed in gnawing his lips because he could not see the way, or see how Nicolò Capriano could find it, either. He shrugged his shoulders. As well dismiss that! If he could but reach Millman—and, after Millman, Bookie Skarvan—just to pay the debts he owed, then—

His hand that had curled into a clenched fist, with knuckles showing like white knobs under the tight-stretched skin, relaxed, as, following a low, quick knock at the door, Emmanuel stepped into the room.

"I gotta da message for you from Nicolò," Emmanuel announced; "an' I gotta da letter for you from Nicolò, too. You get a damn sick staying in here, eh? Well, Nicolò say you go to his place see him tonight. We take a da car by an' by, an' go."

"That's the talk, Emmanuel!" said Dave Henderson, with terse heartiness. "You're all right, Emmanuel, and so is your room and your grub, but a little fresh air is what I am looking for, and the sooner the better!"

He took the envelope that Emmanuel extended, crossed over to the lamp, and turned his back on the other, as he ripped the envelope open. Nicolò Capriano's injunction had been to say nothing to Emmanuel, and—He was staring blankly at the front page of the evening newspaper, all that the envelope contained, and which he had now unfolded before him. And then he caught his breath sharply. He was either crazy, or his eyes were playing him tricks. A thrill that he suppressed by an almost superhuman effort of will, a thrill that tore and fought at the restraint he put upon it, because he was afraid that the mad, insane uplift that it promised was but some fantastic hallucination, swept over him. There was a lead pencil circle drawn around the captions of one of the columns; and three written words, connected to the circle by another pencil stroke, leaped up at him from the margin of the paper:

"You are dead!" He felt the blood surging upward in his veins to beat like the blows of a trip-hammer at his temples. The words were not blurred and running together any more, the captions, instead, inside that circle, seemed to stand out in such huge startling type that they dominated the entire page:

MAN BLOWN TO PIECES

BY BOMB IDENTIFIED

MYSTERY IS EXPLAINED

Dave Henderson, Ex-Convict, Victim of His Own Murderous Intentions.

Dave Henderson glanced over his shoulder. Behind him, Emmanuel was clattering piling up the supper dishes on the tray. He turned again to the newspaper, and read Nicolò Capriano's story, all of it now—and laughed. He remembered the old Italian's tale of the man Ignace Ferroni and his bomb, Nicolò Capriano, for all his age and infirmity, was still without his peer in craft and cunning! The ingenious use of enough of what was true had stamped the utterly false as beyond the shadow of a suspicion that it, too, was not as genuine as the connecting links that held the fabric together. He warmed to the old Italian, an almost hysterical admiration upon him for Nicolò Capriano's guile. But transcending all other emotions was the sense of freedom. It surged upon him, possessing him; it brought exhilaration, and it brought a grim, unholly vista of things to come—a goal within possibility of reach now—Millman first, and then Bookie Skarvan. He was free—free as the air. He was dead. Dave Henderson had passed out of the jurisdiction of the police. To the police he was now but a memory—he was dead.

"You are dead." A queer thrill, as he thinned his lips, as his eyes fell again upon the pencilled words at the margin of the paper.

"It's no wonder they never got anything on old Capriano!" he muttered; and began to tear the paper into shreds.

He was free! He was dead! He was impatient now to exercise that freedom. He could walk out on the streets with no more disguise than these cast-off clothes he had on, plus the brim of his hat to shade his face—for Dave Henderson was dead. Neither Bookie Skarvan, nor Baldy Vickers would be searching for a dead man any more—nor would the police. He swung around, and faced Emmanuel.

"I am to go to Nicolò Capriano's, eh?" he said. "Well, then, let's go; I'm ready."

"No make-a da rush," smiled Emmanuel. "Capriano say you gotta da time, plenty time. Capriano say come over by an' by in da car."

Dave Henderson shook his head impatiently.

"No; we'll go now," he answered.

Emmanuel in turn shook his head.

"I gotta some peep' downstairs in da restaurant," he said. "I gotta stay maybe an hour yet."

Dave Henderson considered this for a moment. He could walk out on the streets now quite freely. It was no longer necessary that he should be hidden in a car. But Nicolò Capriano had told Emmanuel to use the car. Emmanuel would not understand, and he, Dave Henderson, had no intention of enlightening the other why a car was no longer necessary. Neither was Emmanuel himself necessary—there was Mrs. Tooler's pigeon-cote. If he went there before going to Nicolò Capriano! His brain was racing now. Yes, the car, without Emmanuel, would be a great convenience.

"All right!" he said crisply. "You stay here, and look after your restaurant. There's no need for you to come. I'll take the car myself."

"You drive-a da car?" asked Emmanuel dubiously.

Dave Henderson laughed quietly. The question awakened a certain and very pertinent memory. There were those who, if they chose to do so, could testify with some eloquence to his efficiency at the wheel of a car!

"Well, I have driven one," he said. "I guess I can handle that old bus of yours."

"But"—Emmanuel was still dubious—"Capriano say no take-a da risk of being seen on—"

"I'm not looking for any risk myself," interposed Dave Henderson coolly. "It's dark now, and there's no chance of anybody recognizing me while I'm driving a car. Forget it, Emmanuel! Come on! I don't want to stick around here for another hour. Here!"

From his pocket he produced a banknote, and pushed it across the table to the other.

Emmanuel grinned. His doubts had vanished.

"Sure!" said Emmanuel. He tiptoed to the door, looked up, listened, and jerked his head reassuringly in Dave Henderson's direction. "Gotta da move on, then! We go down by da back stairs. Come on!"

They gained the back yard, and the small shed that did duty for a garage—and in a few moments more Dave Henderson, at the wheel of the car, was out on the street.

He drove slowly at first. He had paid no attention to the route taken by Emmanuel when they had left Nicolò Capriano's the night before, and as a consequence he had little or no idea in what part of the city Emmanuel's restaurant was located; but at the expiration of a few minutes he got his bearings and the speed of the car quickened instantly.

Crinoline Is Being Revived in London

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Aug. 22.

THE crinoline, after many threats by the dressmakers that they would revive it, is reappearing here. If all reports be true there is danger that it will soon encircle the charming figures of American women, too. The crinoline is a tyrant of fashion and usurped monopoly rights in a name which had originally a wider meaning.

The World of Fashion of 1830 speaks of "the new stuff called crinoline" as a material composed of horsehair and thread, used at first for making boots and booties. Later it was utilized for bonnets, and only in the last resort for the construction of stiff petticoats to distend a woman's skirt. When skirts grew wider and wider the original crinoline material was found ineffectual, but the name was taken over for the metal hoops which so added to the terrors of life in mid-Victorian days.

Fashion Frills

GODETS ARE SEEN on some of the early autumn creations in Paris. One frock of black chiffon velvet has wide godets trimmed with bands of kolinsky.

FURRIERS ARE BUSY with new designs for muffs. Though women did not favor the muff last winter, the Parisienne carried one and intends to carry a muff this autumn also.

LATE SUMMER HATS shown in London include a picture hat of enormous size. It extends far out in front and dips to the shoulder blades in back. The material is crinoline and the trimmings flowers.

GAUNTLET GLOVES for the late summer are dispensing with the little muslin frills and silk ruchings seen earlier in the season. In the place of these ornaments they now have smart little tailored cuffs of metallic cloth or brocade.

CAMEL'S HAIR, cashmere and all-wool canton crepe are among the fashionable fabrics in New York as the weather grows cooler. "Canton" is a smart shade, as well as bottle green, myrtle and cinnamon. For brighter shades, carnation and king's blue are good.

BLOUSE AND SKIRT costumes remain in vogue. Indeed, women refuse to be lured away from this happy combination. The blouse, however, is growing more like a coat all the time.

DAINTY LINGERIE, part of a late summer trousseau shown in New York, is in very pale blue georgette. It is trimmed with quantities of real val lace ruffles and with little knots and loops of two-tone ribbon, the tones being a deeper blue and orchid.

"POISON PEN" PEOPLE

By Sophie Irene Loeb

(Copyright, 1933.)

THERE is much talk these days about "poison pen" letters. Certainly, well named "poison-pen!" And the human serpent that directs that pen surely should consider himself or herself the lowliest of the low.

As a general proposition these people never sign their names because they are cowards. I have never yet known to fail that the individual who stoops so far in the scale of infamy and meanness as to write a letter directed for the one purpose of creating suffering has got the worst of it in the end.

Somewhat or other, Nemesis is always on the job. Perhaps some day scientists may discover that the "poison-pen" acts like a boomerang and hits the one who has used it.

Years ago in a small town in Pennsylvania, I knew one who took great joy in sending scurrilous letters to persons of whom she did not approve. Every one of these people suffered frightfully, and most of the time these vicious missives were founded on very little fact, yet many of the victims took the words to heart.

One girl's whole life was blighted by the slanderous writings of this woman. She was like a cat playing with mice. She enjoyed seeing them squirm. She had such a pious air about her that nobody even suspected her.

One day she was about to mail one of these notes herself, as she never entrusted them to another. She had just laid the letter on the window of the postoffice and asked for a stamp, when the young woman to whom the letter was addressed walked in.

The unsuspecting Postmaster took the letter as it had been given to him to be mailed, and laughingly suggested that the sender give it to the woman to whom the letter was sent right then and there.

The writer tried in vain to get the letter back and her very action created suspicion. After some excitement, the young woman finally opened it and read it. The miserable creature was exposed in this way and she had to leave the town and was kept out of jail only through the kindness of relatives.

Never was so much real justice done, since all of the people to whom she had written traced all their troubles to this one person. It was like a different neighborhood after she moved away.

I knew of another woman who created great anxiety and heartache in the home of a very splendid couple and came nearly breaking up what was a very happy union. She, too, was discovered and put to shame.

As I have said, sooner or later they are found out. Somebody has said you can't disguise your writing sufficiently to avoid detection, but whether this be true or not, you can't disguise your disposition for any length of time. The one who has it in his make-up to write venomous things will be eventually found out. He can't hide his true self all the time.

There is no punishment too great for such evil-minded men or women. There is no reason for their writings, except the worst element—revenge. They take upon themselves what belongs only to the Higher Being, and perhaps that is why they cannot get away with it for long.

The way to do with people like that is to shun them as you would a snake. It isn't always difficult to trace these treason-like people, and the person who performs a great service is he who sees to it that they are properly labeled—"poison pen" people.

BOYS MUST BE HEROES

By Wm. F. McKeever

A TEN-YEAR-OLD boy jumped into a pond and saved a 7-year-old who was drowning. He explained that he had seen it done that way in the movies.

Three 12-year-old kids kidnaped a younger boy, kept him secreted three days in an abandoned building, robbing him of his knife and 15 cents, and evaded arrest for a month.

A 10-year-old dropped two nickels, accidentally, from a boat. The water was four feet deep and clear. He plunged in, got one coin, but "forgot to close his mouth." When they had revived him with pulmotors and had given him three days' hospital treatment, he wanted to go back and dive for the other nickel.

So we might cite at length instances to prove the point that half-grown boys are keenly interested in heroes and heroism. Also it is contended by those who really know boy life that the scout age both deserves heroic patterns and an opportunity to try its skill in imitating such standards.

But a matter which we especially need to understand is that boys are indifferent as to the moral significance of any heroic affair which they would undertake to imitate in their playful practice. It is the drama which their natures demand at this time and their right-and-wrong considerations are neither moral nor immoral, but what we may call un-moral.

Our tendency at present is to make boy life in the city too tame and soft. The youthful banditry and other forms of devilry now so often reported is in a sense a protest of the inherent heroism of the young age against the suppression and staidness of our so-called civilization. In some respects we are already too much civilized for the 12-year-olds. And so long as we fail to satisfy in wholesome ways the inherent demands of the heroic young nature we may expect juvenile banditry to continue.

Think it over, fathers. Try in some way to get your boy into the rough-and-tumble. Give him a chance to mix occasionally with a bit of innocent mock heroism, at least. Put him into some kind of

How the Silhouette Is Finding New Uses in Home Decoration

By Wanda Barton

THE silhouette is coming into its own once more, but not exactly as it was used in old-fashioned days, when everyone had a portrait made in silhouette. This likeness was mounted on a white satin or glazed paper, square and framed. Today, silhouettes are cut out in copies of dancing figures, action figures from famous paintings, beautiful women, Japanese garden scenes, flower motifs and many other attractive designs for all forms of home decoration.

The silhouettes are cut out not alone in shiny black paper, but in patent leather, suede, silk and satin, and under the manipulation of a sharp pair of scissors in master hands they come out clear and perfect. The home decorator has silhouettes cut according to her own ideas and to suit the particular decoration for which they are designed.

A charming desk set done for a young girl's room had a shell-pink blotter square with the border done on a white wood frame in dancing, fairy-like figures chasing dainty butterflies. The life and action in the figures made them fascinating. Her letter-file, hand-blotted, pen-tray, and so on, were all painted white, and the figures were repeated on them in attractive groups. The figures were done in paper, and the entire set was varnished after the decoration was done.

Parchment lamp-shades of the popular shapes lend themselves very nicely to silhouette decoration, and it is used not only in the single-figure motifs, but also in descriptive scenes from paintings, opera settings, single, large sprawling flowers and stiff little conventionalized potted shrubs.

Glass fire-screens are frequently seen in homes that are blessed with open fireplaces. In wrought-iron frames the glass has a border of silhouette figures in smoke-wraith effects, which suggest all sorts of fireside tales when groups surround the fireplace at tea-time. The figures do not shut off the view of the fire, but they simply make a frame through which its glow shines.

Painted furniture decorated with silhouette figures is not wholly new, except in the fact that it is discarding the use of the black figures and is using silhouettes in a deeper shade of the paint of the furniture, itself. While this decoration is very charming, it is rather less effective than the old fashion of black silhouettes.

Lovely nursery sets, however, go a little further in novelty by producing the designs in nursery figures in many gay colors on white or pastel-colored backgrounds.

Silhouette place-cards are appearing at dinners and luncheons in many new and attractive fashions. In some sets, the silhouettes reproduce French figures in comical, cut very small and pasted onto the cards. One clever hostess had a professional silhouette artist seated in the hall. Her guests had their silhouettes cut before dinner, then she gave the men's to the women guests and vice versa. In this way, dinner partners were chosen.

athletics or games where there is a chance to test and display his strength and mettle.

Teach him to sleep on a hard bed, sweat him out on a turning bar for a season, set up a small out-door gymnasium back of your place, and otherwise arrange that your young son shall have his day of heroic training.

If a boy can learn to perform an athletic or mock-heroic stunt well enough to deserve the admiration of his fellows, you have won the point. He will go on satisfied with this and will be inclined to behave decently in other respects. But if you deny him his bit of heroism he may try cut some kind of banditry. This situation is simple, but it demands attention.

Why the Simple Life May Banish "Biliousness"

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

THINK I have told you before that my old friend, the late Mayor Gaynor, once said:

"Some people think they are pious when they are only bilious."

"Biliousness" was a word in common use a generation ago, and it continues to hold a place in the common speech, if not in the professional vocabulary. It describes a combination of symptoms, including headache, dizziness, indigestion, furred tongue, bad taste in the mouth, tired feeling and general misery. The popular idea is that it is due to a torpid or sluggish liver.

The liver never fails to function as best it can. Sometimes, however, too much is asked of it. When you treat your body as if it were a playhouse, the liver suffers with all the other organs.

If you habitually eat too much candy or pastry, or an excess of fat, you may be putting too much strain on your liver. Likewise, long-standing constipation will disturb the normal action of the liver.

In constipation there is an accumulation of waste material in the lower portion of the colon. The veins supplying this part of the intestine communicate with the liver. Poisons formed in the colon or absorbed by this portion of the intestinal wall will eventually reach the liver.

This is exactly the way Nature intended to dispose of the body poisons, but if an excessive amount of material of this sort is passed on to the liver there may be too much for it to handle. Then the whole system suffers and we have the symptoms popularly called "biliousness."

Not only are there physical signs of trouble, but the mind rebels. There are drowsiness, sadness and gloom of spirit. There may be of living, daily exercise, lots of plenty of drinking water, and common sense in eating and drinking.

Her liver was but more simple and suffered less from dietary ailments commonly called "biliousness" would not come to her.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

Inspiration.

THE artist was a man of soul, brimful of temperament; he lived upon a meager dole and seldom paid his rent. The wolf camped close beside his door upon seven flights of stairs and with him shared the attic floor and added to his cares. And though the baby bawled for bread and rent the air with woe, "I cannot paint," the artist said, "till I'm inspired, you know. I do not try to work at all as common mortals do, but wait until I hear the call of muses that I woo. Each morn his wife went forth to scrub, for she was coarser clay and, quite unlike the soulful dub, she worked the living day. No inspiration did she seek, no muse did she invite, but with her scrubbing brush each week she vexed the artist when he thought how lowly was her lot; but still he ate the food she bought, for it was all he got. Sometimes he raved and tore his hair and vowed he longed to die, said inspiration wasn't fair and always passed him by. She seemed to be a fickle jade and, much as he implored and spite of promises he made, she only acted bored. She really never took a squint along the artist's way, but had he tried some simple stint, like setting down to stay, and had he done the best he could, content to toil and climb, it might have been the lady would have smiled on him in time. For that is Inspiration's joy, to pass her woosers by and camp beside some busy boy who works each day in high.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

The boaster gives himself away. Because his tongue he cannot stay. —Old Mother Nature.

ROBBER the Rat is a coward. Like most cowards, he is a boaster. You will almost always find that cowards are boasters. You know, Robber is an outcast. None of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows will have anything to do with him. He pretends not to care, but he does care. So, when he discovered the young Chuck under Farmer Brown's barn was inclined to be friendly, Robber began to boast. He wanted to make himself as wonderful as possible in the eyes of that young Chuck.

"I take it," he said, "that you have not been out long in the Great World. It is a very wonderful place. But one must be able to take care of one's self. It is no place for one who is afraid."

"Then," said the young Chuck, "I suppose you are not afraid."

"Not in the least," replied Robber. "This was an untruth, for as I told you before, Robber is a coward. I've been all over the Great World," he continued. "I have seen so much that it is a relief to settle down here. I don't suppose there is anyone who has seen more of the Great World than I have. I have been a great traveler in my day."

"Then I shouldn't think you would be satisfied to settle down in a place like this," said the young Chuck. "But perhaps you don't live here all the time. It seems to me rather a dirty place. I suppose you go outside to take a sun bath?"

Now, Robber the Rat does not take a sun bath. He hates the sunlight. His deeds are deeds of darkness, and he comes out in the light of day only when he must, or when there is something to be gained by it.

"This place," said he, "is merely where I sleep."

But Robber knew that the young Chuck didn't know these things. He didn't know that Robber had lost his self-respect. So Robber kept on with his boasting. It was a great pleasure to himself to have someone who would listen to him.

"This place," said he, "is merely where I sleep. From it I go forth whenever I please to get the things I want. It is an easy matter to get a living here. Up above there are great bins of grain stored especially for me by Farmer Brown and his boy."

Of course, this wasn't true, but Robber knew that the young Chuck knew nothing about the inside of Farmer Brown's barn. It pleased him to pretend that all that corn and grain was his own. "Yes, sir," he continued, "in a great room over our heads are piles of corn and grain that would feed all the Chucks in the world, and all this is mine. Those big birds that frightened you so are kept to lay eggs for me. Whenever I feel like having a fresh

HOBBIES OF NOTED MEN AND WOMEN

By LOUIS M. NOTKIN.

SOME people make their life work their hobby, while others make their hobby their life work. Dr. Orison Swett Marden, editor Success Magazine, belongs to the former class. Dr. Marden expresses this idea somewhat differently:

"I would say that my avocation has been identical with my vocation. There is nothing I like to do quite as much as writing. I have used the dictaphone for many years and seldom dictate less than from three to four thousands words a day, including holidays and Sundays, and I am never quite so happy as when I am creating something which will encourage and inspire and uplift those who are in need of such help."

"In addition to editing the Success Magazine, I have written nearly 50 books along inspirational and self-help lines. The fact that two millions of these books have been sold would seem to indicate that my hobby or avocation has not been entirely in vain. My books have been translated into 25 different languages."

"I have never played golf or any other game so popular with many other men. But I have always been in love with my work. Nothing else gives me quite the same pleasure or satisfaction."

Miss Emma McCoy, a trained nurse of Bridgeport, Conn., who for 15 years has been trying to reach Pitcairn Island or re-establish communication with her relatives there, has just received a box of souvenirs from the island in the Pacific. The island is 3000 miles from the nearest point of call of most steamships. It was settled by mutineers of the ship Bounty in 1790, and Miss McCoy was the first white person to leave the island.

New Starch Discovery Keeps Your Children's Clothes Looking Like New

* * *

FOR children's dainty clothes, there is nothing that produces such a delightful effect as Linit, or gives such a cool, soft, pliable finish.

Linit makes even ordinary cotton fabrics look and feel like linen.

That is why mothers welcome Linit, the remarkable new starch discovery.

Because Linit remains thin and free-running like water, it penetrates every thread of the fabric, helps strengthen it, thus preventing wear and increasing the life of the material. Linit was originally developed for the use of the makers of fine fabrics, and is now for the first time available for family use.

For all garments and household fabrics starch with Linit. It gives such a fresh, spotless appearance.

Important to You

Be sure to use Linit according to directions, and unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is why Linit goes much further than the old-fashioned kind of starches—and why it is easier to iron with Linit.

Go to your grocer, ask for a 10c package of Linit and begin to use it for all fabrics. Perfection in starching guaranteed—or your money refunded.

Linit is made by the Corn Products Refining Company—makers of the famous Argo Starch—Karo Syrup and Mazola Salad and Cooking Oil.

THROW IT OUT.
WHEN the ball begins to curve.
Throw it out.
If it takes a sudden swerve.
Throw it out.
If the pellet seems to sail
And, to hit it, batters fail,
It's a case of finger nail.
Throw it out.
If it isn't white as chalk,
Throw it out.
Founce upon it like a hawk.
Throw it out.
If the pesky little bean
Isn't absolutely clean,
Or contains a streak of green.
Throw it out.
If the ball is slightly soiled,
Throw it out.
If the batter has been foiled,
Throw it out.
If it's not immaculate
When it goes across the plate,
Give the pesky pill the gate—
Throw it out.

TOO TRUE.
At that it is possible to play
dirty baseball with a clean ball.
Crude remarks from the side lines are offensive to the customers and should not be tolerated.
If the umpire were as keen about throwing out dirty ball players as they are about throwing out dirty balls, they would enhance their efficiency immeasurably.

See where the apartment and flat jaunters are going to uniform. That ought to enable them to make it hot for us this winter.

We take it that a hard coal strike would make it pretty soft for the soft coal men.

ONLY MORE SO.
So, whether the hard coal men strike or not, the smoke will go up the chimney just the same.

Now that De Valera has been captured the question that arises is,
what will they do with him?

De Valera is like one of those things that crop out in baseball once in a while under the head of "too hot to handle."

MAIL CARRIED BY PLANE FROM COAST
TO COAST IN 27
HOURS, 56 MINUTES

Cargo From San Francisco
Delivered at Hempstead
New York, Four Minute
Under the Hoped-for 28
Hour Schedule of Post office Department.

THIRD DAY'S FLIGHTS
NOW IN PROGRESS

Eastbound Pilots at Near All Relay Stations From an Hour to Two Hours
Ahead of Their Schedule
Aided by Favorable Wind

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Aug. 22.—
Four minutes under the hoped-for 28-hour transcontinental air mail schedule, mail which left San Francisco at 5:24 a. m. Pacific time yesterday was delivered at the post office at Hempstead, N. Y., at 12:24 p. m. Eastern time today, fulfilling the dream of American airline and postal officials since the air mail was first established.

It was not the first mail carried plane across the continent but it established a mark of 27 hours and 56 minutes elapsed time for the plane at the next two days of the five-day period.

Second Successful Flight.
Twice since the first started Tuesday, the continent has been spanned by the airmail plane. On Tuesday yesterday, when New York was that departed at 11:01 a. m. Eastern time, Tuesday, reached San Francisco at 6:24 p. m. thirty-four hours and twenty-three minutes after flight across mountains, hills,
plains and more mountains.

Under the original first day schedule, the west-bound flight here allowed thirty hours, while Eastern schedule, which it was favored would be aided by winds, the graptors' backs, was set at hours. Today the arrival at Hempstead, New York, of Pilot Paul Collins, completed the second successful continent flight.

As the eastbound pilots swept New York today, nearly every the pilot was an hour or two ahead of the schedule and westbound as the third day fliers started for San Francisco and San Francisco, the west-bound flight was ahead of the schedule Carried Delayed Mail Also.
Collins brought not only the mail that left San Francisco yesterday but also the delayed mail that left San Francisco Tuesday morning.
Ten sacks of this mail had been shipped from Laramie to Omaha
by train.

The third day's flights were on their way this afternoon.
The west-bound flight for San Francisco, Pilot B.
Winglow, departed at 8:04 a. m. Eastern time this morning at the air mail office. Another left San Francisco at 8:04 a. m. Pacific time for New York at 8:04 a. m. Eastern time. The westbound mail that left New York yesterday morning departed at 8:24 a. m.
Eastern time, three minutes after arriving an hour and 12 minutes ahead of the postoffice schedule.
Last night, the second night flying over the beacon lighted way of 185 miles, the mail for a second time sped without delay
on its way.

Eastward Mail Pilot Reaches
New York With Cargo.
By the Associated Press.
RENO, Nev., Aug. 22.—After fighting a strong head wind all the way from San Francisco, Pilot B.
Winglow alighted at the air mail office here this morning at 8:04. One mail sack—claimed as a record—transferring of mail—Pilot Mott sped out of the hangar to Reno, Nev., found on the second leg of the flight
the transcontinental day and night service. Fog on leaving San Francisco and the wind all the way made Winglow's time slow on the first leg of the trip. Winglow left San Francisco at 8:04 a. m. Pacific time.

Mail From New York Reaches
San Francisco by Air in 34 Hours.
By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—
Hundreds of New York letters were delivered here last night—the first after they left New York—as a result of a 34-hour flight from New York, which was completed when the plane, racing along at a speed of 185 miles an hour, landed here at 8:24 p. m. (Pacific time).
The home stretch plane, piloted by Paul K. Collins, landed at Hempstead at 12:24 p. m. Eastern time.
